

46 U.S. Soldiers Die In Crash of Transport

Officials Say Mishap Is Worst of War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Air Force troop transport carrying 46 Americans and a cargo of mortar shells crashed in dense fog and rain today in the central highlands just after taking off from An Khe. All aboard were killed. The twin-engine C123 Fairchild Provider slammed into a hillside five miles east of An Khe and the impact exploded the mortar shells. The plane carried a crew of four from the 315th Air Commando Group and 42 soldiers of the 7th Cavalry Regiment.

U.S. officials said it was the worst American air crash in the Vietnamese war.

Ammunition and grenades carried by the soldiers aboard exploded in the tremendous heat.

Heavy Rain

A search party reached the scene at noon in heavy rain. The cloud ceiling was 300 feet when the plane took off.

The cause of the crash was not immediately known.

An Khe is the staging area for the U.S. 1st Cavalry. Airborne Division, which has been fighting the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars in the highlands. It lies 250 miles northeast of Saigon in mountains where Communist snipers occasionally shoot at American planes.

The C123 is a lumbering aircraft with a cruising speed of 180 miles an hour.

The worst air disaster of the Vietnamese war involved a U.S. Air Force C123 which crashed into a peak south of Nha Trang last Dec. 11, killing 81 Vietnamese soldiers and the four American crewmen.

Highest Toll

The highest American toll in a plane crash indirectly connected with the war occurred last Aug. 24 when a U.S. Marine Corps C130 transport carrying 63 Marines and two sailors back to the front from a brief leave crashed into Hong Kong harbor. Fifty-eight perished.

The unit killed in the crash today was en route to join one of a number of general offensives.

Mao Can't Wage Foreign War, Nationalist Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Chinese Nationalist military expert says "Communist China seems to possess little capability for sustained large-scale conventional war outside her own borders."

Although this estimate was not related directly to the war in Viet Nam, it obviously bears on the capacity of Communist China to intrude itself into the conflict.

The analysis was made by Nu Sien-chong, an adviser in the Nationalist Chinese Defense Planning Bureau. It appeared in the latest issue of the professional journal published at the U.S. Army Institute School, Ft. Benning, Ga.

"Today the Communist Chinese army is still essentially an infantry force," he wrote. "It is composed principally of infantry units equipped with only a few tanks, artillery pieces, and motor vehicles."

Slow Rising Trend In Temperature Seen

Budget Lacks Realism, Says Rep. Byrnes

Congress Must Shift Philosophy To Tighten Belt

By FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Congress will have to experience a "shift in philosophy" during its current session from that which it exhibited last year if it exercises any financial belt-tightening action on the President's budget requests of nearly $113 billion for the coming fiscal year, Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay, said Monday.

Commenting that the budget "represents a lack of realism on both the spending and revenue sides," the congressman complained that there "are so many ifs and ands and buts about the budget that I don't think it gives a realistic projection" of the financial picture.

"The budget calls for a reduction in numerous areas totalling $5 billion and increases in non-defense items over the present levels by about another $5 billion. So it leaves a vast area of about $10 billion subject to serious question as to what will actually happen," the congressman, who is top Republican on the tax-writing ways and means committee, explained.

Looks Good

"On paper, the budget looks good," he continued. "In spite of additional cost of the war, the President predicts a deficit of $2 billion compared with $6 billion this fiscal year."

"If everything is done that he called for in its budget, and he has made his estimates properly, that is fine," he said.

"Mr. Johnson is just postponing the day of reckoning on financing by robbing the revenues of future years for use this year. He is temporarily solving today's problems by creating bigger ones in the future," he said.

What action, if any, Congress will take in trimming down non-essential expenditures is the real key budgetary responsibility, according to Byrnes, who takes a dim view of the possibility of any expenditure trimming by Congress this year in view of its spending record last year.

KENOSHA (AP) — An anonymous benefactor has contributed $120,000 to Carthage College. The gift, announced today by President Harold H. Lentz, is the largest made in one amount to the college in nearly 50 years.

Begin Next Wednesday

Committees Dig Into President's Budget; Prepare for Hearings

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Twelve congressional committees started cranking up today for the long and arduous job of handling President Johnson's $112.8-billion budget.

Hearings on the many facets of the budget, presented to Congress Monday, will begin Wednesday when a House Defense Appropriations subcommittee will hear Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara explain the money needs of the military. McNamara's testimony will be keyed to a presidential request for $12.76 billion in emergency funds, exclusive of the $57.1-billion defense budget for fiscal 1967.

Over-All Picture

The entire House Appropriations Committee will be given an over-all picture of budget and appropriation requirements next Monday, when the Budget Bureau and the Treasury Department present the case for the President.

The 12 subcommittees will settle down then to months of testimony on the 12 separate money bills which annually finance the government.

The usual cries of "too much" went up from Republicans Monday as Democrats commended the President for what they called a realistic approach to the government's fiscal problems in his budget.

"I have never seen a budget based on more tenuous revenue assumptions and with such little regard for the fiscal welfare of this nation," commented Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee.

Dominant Note

"Restraint is the dominant note," said Democrat George H. Mahon of Texas, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

Bow did not dispute Mahon's estimate that there would be little disagreement over about 90 per cent of the budget. The area of disagreement will be the funding of controversial new "Great Society" programs.

Red Undermining Efforts Failure, Humphrey Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says the Communists have failed in their efforts to undermine the U.S. peace offensive in Viet Nam.

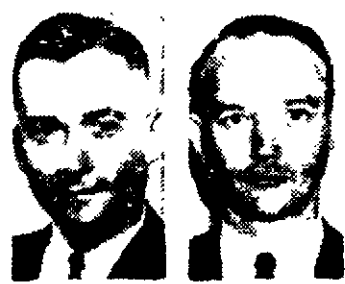

"By their refusal to come to the conference table, they have exposed their warlike, aggressive ambitions," he said in an interview Monday.

On whether the offensive would lead to peace, Humphrey said "Regrettably, one cannot be too optimistic."

Humphrey was in New York to address the President's Club of New York and attend a reception of the American Jewish Committee.

Moro Likely Head Of Italian Rule

ROME (AP) — President Giuseppe Saragat today asked former Premier Aldo Moro to form a new government.

Moro, Italy's premier since July 1964, delayed his acceptance pending consultations with his own Christian Democrat party and the Socialist, Democratic Socialist and Republican partners in the center-left coalition which governed Italy until his resignation four days ago.

By the time Saragat ended three days of political consultations Monday night, all four parties in Moro's coalition had asked for his return to head the same kind of government for the third time in a row.

Moro will not be sworn in as premier until he can assure Saragat that he has found a new Cabinet capable of commanding a majority in Parliament.

Associated Press Survey

Most Senators Oppose Changing House Terms to Meet LBJ Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson apparently will have to agree to substantial compromises to get Senate approval of his proposal for four-year terms for House members.

An Associated Press survey indicated today that Johnson cannot now muster the necessary two-thirds majority for a constitutional amendment calling for the four-year election of House members in presidential election years.

The survey reached 88 of the 100 senators. Eighteen declined to make any public commitments and 12 others were not available.

Both Senate and House would have to give two-thirds approval for such an amendment, which would then become effective only if ratified by three-fourths of the states.

Although Johnson argued in a special message against staggering the election of the representatives 26 senators said they do not favor electing all of the members in presidential years.

Twenty-four senators said they are not in favor of four-year terms. Only 20 generally supported the President's plan, a narrow base on which to build toward the 67 votes which would be needed for passage if all senators voted.

Those who were canvassed were asked:

Questions Asked

Do you favor President Johnson's proposal for election of House members to four-year terms in presidential years? If not, do you favor (1) maintaining the status quo or (2) the election of half the House membership every two years?

Nineteen Democrats and one Republican said they generally favor the President's proposal. Some of these, however, had reservations as to how it might be put into effect.

Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, assistant Democratic leader, said he thinks the amendment ought to be put into effect in 1968 and not in 1972, as Johnson proposed. Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., suggested that eight-year terms for senators be included in the proposal.

Opposes Amendment

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said he is opposed to requiring House members to resign their seats if they wish to run for the Senate. He said the amendment ought to be put into effect as soon as ratified by the states.

Eleven Democrats and 13 Republicans indicated they are presently inclined against four-year terms.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said that four-year tenures would make for one party gov-

LBJ Opens Rural War On Poverty

Special Message Outlines Proposal For Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed to Congress today a many-sided program to fight poverty in rural areas.

In a special message, Johnson announced he will soon appoint a commission on rural poverty charged with making recommendations to him within a year on means of extending the nation's abundance to poverty-ridden country areas.

Meantime, he proposed an extensive planning program with federal aid and including pilot projects in an unspecified number of rural areas.

In the pilot counties, Johnson said, government departments, especially labor, welfare and agriculture, would join in a concerted effort to bring social services to poor rural communities.

Johnson proposed creation of community development districts and federal grants for planning and including pilot projects in an unspecified number of rural areas.

1. Districtwide planning of public services and governmental functions where other federal planning assistance is not available.

New Broadway Show Has Jawbreaker Title

Theater Reaches for High Drama, This 'Marat-Sade' Seems Primarily a Freak

By WILLIAM GLOVER Associated Press Drama Critic NEW YORK (AP) — Curiouser and curiously gets Broadway's search for high drama.

The latest specimen opened last week at the Martin Beck Theater its jawbreaker title "The Persecution and Assassination of Marat as Performed by the Inmates of the Asylum of Charenton Under the Direction of the Marquis de Sade."

Staged with startling wizardry, the disturbing and sometimes repellent play seems primarily a freak to fascinate a limited audience.

The players who give a fine display of downbeat ensemble dedication are members of the Royal Shakespeare Company. Most participated in the much discussed London production. Repeating as director is Peter Brook.

The author, Peter Weiss, a German now of Swedish citizenship.

MARRIED COUPLES SHOULD SOLVE THEIR OWN PROBLEMS!

GOOD BAD

Bad. Many family problems, for 25 cents and your name and cannot be solved without professional assistance. The idea sent to this column, in care of that marriage troubles are no-body's business keeps many a pair from getting the help they need soon enough. One recent study in a large family service agency found that the average couple does not come for help until six and a half years after their marital troubles started. They would not neglect a malfunctioning automobile or a painful tooth that long. Letting marriage problems go unsolved without help can be even more serious.

Prove this to your further satisfaction by reading the pull-no-punches booklet, "When a Family Faces Stress." It's yours, seems gone.

Proceed Step by Step in Readying Completed 1965 State Tax Form

By NORMAN E. SCHLEY
In this final article of our series, we will point out the steps that taxpayers with various problems might follow in discharging their responsibilities to the Wisconsin Department of Taxation for the year 1965. The short form 1A may be used only by those with income subject to withholding of less than $10,000 and who received not more than $200 of income from dividends, interest and wages not subject to withholding.

The form is further restricted in that those who plan to claim Homestead Tax Relief Credit must use form 1. Members of the armed forces are exceptions and may use form 1A in reporting service pay if other qualifications are met.

Those who file Wisconsin form 1 will do well to prepare the Federal form 1040 in complete detail before proceeding to the new simplified return. Bear in mind that you will file a copy of your federal form with the state return, so three complete federal returns should be written up.

Simplified Form

For most taxpayers the simplified form is just that, and your efforts will generally include: (a) heading up the return with all necessary identifying information, (b) transferring the amount of your "Federal Total Income" from form 1040 page 1, line 9 to line 1 of page 1 of the Wisconsin form, interest on state, municipal or (c) entering either the standard deduction or itemized deduction on line 6, and (d) re-allocating with a state basis disallowing your personal exemption from the federal or who file on line 9. The rest of your are involved in the carry-over work is purely arithmetic plus of capital losses. In all of these those all important signatures cases, the "Federal Total Income" and the bank check, if you owe come" transferred from form additional taxes.

A small percentage of the thousands of taxpayers who file Wisconsin income tax returns will be involved in certain new and unfamiliar procedures this year. Among these individuals will be those who experienced income or loss on the sale or operation of property located outside the state, received in-

Budget Includes Milk Revision

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major change in the School Milk Program is included in the budget President Johnson sent to Congress today.

The President suggested that only needy children be allowed to buy milk at reduced cost. Others would pay the going loss price.

The current format is for the Agriculture Department to pay a part of the cost of milk for all school children. Some $89 million is being spent on the program this year. The new budget proposes $37 million.

Capital Loss

Q Why is it necessary to "modify" my simplified state return if I sustained a capital loss?

A Because in many cases you are deducting on the federal return a loss carry-over from last year which was not taxed last year. You must be reported this year.

Q Yes, provided you file it by January 31, 1966.

Q Is it true that my alimony rules now follow the federal.

The Workings of a Television set are explained by Bruce Barten, right, a pupil at Holy Angeles School, Darboy, as he points out functions of the display he and his brother, Don, made for the School's science fair. instead of paying the fourth which was not taxed last year quarterly installment on my estate must be reported this year?

A Yes, and the individual making the payments may deduct them since the Wisconsin rules now follow the federal.

Q May I file my state return

Parents' World

There Are Various Reasons For Lack of Personal Hygiene

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: My son's wife and their three children came to live with me and my husband this month after my son left for Viet Nam. They are all nice looking and intelligent. But the 13-year-old girl apparently doesn't like to take baths. Recently, she went a whole week without a bath!

When I suggested that she take a bath, because all the perfume in the world doesn't make her body clean, she went in the bathroom, ran the water, and splashed around. I pretended to need to go in to get some medicine from the bathroom cabinet, and there she was, splashing the water with her hands, and she hadn't even taken her clothes off!

Her mother is not very strict and says it doesn't matter. Well, what should I do? I do insist on people taking baths, but I don't know how to get her to do this. Would it help if I buy her some bath oil or is there a better way to encourage her? MRS. B. A.

The explanation of this strange behavior may not lie in lax training about personal cleanliness. It may be connected with mistaken notions your granddaughter may have about personal hygiene during her monthly periods and with other confusing emotions she has about being mature.

Don't do or say anything about taking baths for the next few weeks, to see if she repeats this behavior only a once a month. If so, ask her mother to correct the information that's causing her daughter to feel needless shame and worry.

If your granddaughter's reluctance to take baths happens all month long, talk turkey with her mother and tell her you insist that people in your house follow ordinary rules of cleanliness. There's no point to pussy-footing around in the effort to spare their delicate feelings if their behavior indicates they don't care about being delicate.

DEAR DR. JONES: Is there a book we can read to our little girl that will soften the blow to her when we tell her she's adopted? She's four years old. MRS. H. U.

Don't send a book to do your work for you! The fundamental reason for telling her she's adopted is to let you prove to her you trust her and want her to trust you. If you don't have enough trust to be able to tell her yourself about the adoption, what's the point of discussing this with her?

Bacon to Order

Here's a hint for those of you who despair of ever keeping bacon from curling. Before you cook it, snip the ends with kitchen shears. It will stay flat as can be. On the other hand, bacon curls are a nice garnish for many meats and vegetable dishes. They're easily made by rolling strips of bacon, securing them with a toothpick, and then broiling them instead of frying.

Use Sterling Daily

Chances are, your holiday tables gleamed with the beauty of your prized sterling silver. Wouldn't it be nice if that glow could last all year long? There's no reason at all why it can't! Sterling, used every day, actually increases in beauty. And here's the best part: the more you use it, the less you have to polish it.

Diabetes Lay Society Schedules Speaker, Panel at Green Bay

The Northeastern Wisconsin Diabetes Lay Society will sponsor an educational program especially for children, parents, and anyone interested in learning more about diabetes at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the YMCA on N. Jefferson Street, Green Bay.

Dr. Karl Beck of Milwaukee will be the guest speaker. With him will be a panel to discuss the topic "Can Diabetic Kids Lead a Normal Life."

Dr. Beck is an instructor of pediatrics at Marquette University School of Medicine, and is a past president and one of the founders of the Wisconsin Diabetes Association. Dr. Beck also works closely with the Children's Hospital, Milwaukee, on their diabetic program and with the camps for diabetic children in the state.

This program will be held at the YMCA, N. Jefferson Street, Green Bay, at 7:00 p.m. Wednesday, January 26th.

Sheinwold Check Facts Before You Finesse

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The finesse, although one of the simplest of all bridge plays, can stand a full week of serious discussion. Today we see what happens when you have the chance to take two finesses in a single hand.

Declarer took the first spade in dummy and led a trump to try a finesse with the queen.

West won with the king and returned a spade to dummy's ace.

Declarer led a trump to the ace and made horrible noises when West failed to follow suit. South had to lose a second trump trick and was down one.

"If you had played the ace of trumps," North complained, "you would have caught the singleton king."

"We all know that now," South agreed. "Why didn't you speak up sooner?"

"Because you led trumps too soon," North observed. "You couldn't tell what you needed to do, and nobody could help you."

Tests Diamonds

North meant that South led trumps before he knew whether or not he could afford to lose a trump trick. South should lead a club to his hand at the second trick and should try the diamond finesse before touching trumps. If the diamond finesse loses, South must later try a finesse with the queen of hearts. His only hope is to pick up the trumps without loss, which he can do if East has two hearts headed by the king.

If the diamond finesse wins, South can afford to lose one trump trick. Therefore he leads a heart to the ace. The king drops, and the rest is easy.

If the king of hearts failed to drop South would get to dummy and lead another heart. This play limits the trump loss to one trick whenever the normal finesse would work and also whenever West has the singleton king.

South has only one way to play the diamonds but two ways to play the hearts. He should play the diamonds first to see if the result tells him which way to play the hearts.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S 10 7 4 2 H K S 9 5 3 C 7 5 3 2. What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass. You hate to let partner play at notrump when you have a singleton but you cannot safely rescue him with a poor hand and only 4-card suits.

First Woman Elected to Run Harvard's Crimson

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The first announcement that Miss Linda C. McVeigh, 19, had become the first woman managing editor of the Harvard Crimson was made by the Harvard Lampoon, printed for the occasion on perfumed pages.

Miss McVeigh, a Radcliffe student from Anaheim, Calif., was not upset by the Lampoon's lampoon. The men of Harvard are taking it in stride, too.

In scooping the Crimson, the Lampoon, a satirical publication, reported that the entire 85-member editorial board of the Crimson had resigned in protest.

The report of resignations was a joke, however. The board members elected Miss McVeigh, managing editor of the student daily newspaper.

Right Qualities "She's tough," said sports editor R. Andrew Beyer. "There's more to her than just being tough," said Harrison Young, a Crimson drama critic.

"She's brave. You would not mind being in a resistance movement with her."

"I think it's a grand idea," said Crimson executive editor Jay Mathews. "The old all-male traditions of Harvard have lasted long enough."

"Life is competitive," Miss McVeigh said, explaining why she went after the managing editor's post. "I would feel guilty living comfortably. I don't want to end up in some easy job and making easy choices."

She said she once had wanted to be a lawyer but now aspires to journalism.

Weekly Paper As managing editor, Miss McVeigh will run a staff of 30, about a third of them girls, and be responsible for the news pages. The Crimson publishes every day but Sunday, has a circulation of 4,200 and usually runs six to eight pages.

She figures the job will take about 30 hours a week on top of another 30 hours spent on school work.

A junior, she is majoring in American history and literature.

She joins the ranks of such Crimson managing editors as the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Pulitzer Prize winners Anthony Lewis and David Halberstam of the New York Times and Otto Fuerbringer, managing editor of Time magazine.

Cheese Cake Idea For added flavor and appealing color, try topping a cheese cake with a thin layer of cranberry-orange relish just before serving.

Consultant in Money Management
Dear Miss Feeley:
I would like to know what the U.S. Government statistics recommend as a suitable food plan for a family of four—a boy, of course, aged 55, a housewife aged 50, and two boys aged 11 and 12 who have hearty appetites. Will you please give me the figures for a low, medium, and generous food budget?
Mrs. J.T.R., Chicago

down the figures, and take a look at the cost per person per week, here's what you find:
A boy from 9 to 12 years old, $6.40 per week on the low cost plan. (You have to figure in two selected income levels, as of 1955. These figures were adjusted to current levels by use of these basic figures demand all released periodically by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.)

And you should keep this in mind, too: these estimates are based on the average price per pound of each food group paid by non-farm families at three food allotments and grow up to be healthy citizens. But I will tell you before you tell me —ed to current levels by use of these basic figures demand all released periodically by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.)

It's very difficult to set an arbitrary food budget for a family, when some people are have been collecting trading stamps for spaghetti three times a week and others need some and have amassed a collection of good red meat along with the stamp books from various vegetable soup. The best you stamp companies can do, Mrs. R., is to use one of these overall weekly figures as a guide and see how near you of one concern for another?

can come to scoring a bull's! Mrs. E.G., Brooklyn, N.Y. I do urge you to try it, if Sorry to say—for your sake your food bills are getting out of and that of a lot of others—the hand. Don't worry if you answer is No.

Now if you want to break figures I cannot accurately say, hand. Don't worry if you answer is No.

Sea Scouts Sail in Social Waters

Sea Scout Ship 11, S.E.S. Northern Light, landlocked for the winter, sailed onto the dance floor and walked the 'bridge of honor' at a Saturday evening party at KP Hall. Visiting ships were the S.E.S. Viking, Chicago, the S.E.S. Seraco, Milwaukee, and the S.E.S. Santa Maria and S.E.S. Northland, Fond du Lac. Explorer Post Eight and leaders of the Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, and members of other explorer units, were also invited.

Scouts who served as committee members were Tony Kipp, Steve Hoppe, Rick Derscheid, Tom Larson, Doug Stark and Jim Hendricks, decorations; Rick Kipp, Tony Kipp and Tom Larson, food; Tony Kipp, Tom Larson and Gary Summers, coats, Tom Weiss, Pete Colbert, Bob Strelow and John Vogt, clean up, and Don Schindhelm, tickets.

The event was organized by Kermit Hahn, founder of the Ship 11 and institutional representative. The program began with dancing at 8 p.m. All units participated in the 10 30 p.m. bridge of honor, with awards bestowed by respective officers. Honorary awards went to Rick Kipp, a Ship 11 officer who is leaving for Navy duty, and to Robert Airis, past skipper and now committee chairman. Larry Hahn is present skipper.

Midnight mess was served in the KP dining room at 11 30 p.m.

plans for the event were Mmes and Messrs. Vincent Derscheid, Henry Starck, Robert Airis, Eugene Hoppe, Vinal Strelow, Wayne Colbert, James Larson, Thomas Summers, Kenneth Hendricks, Robert Kipp and Reinhold Vogt.

KP Hall Was Decorated like a sailing vessel for members of Ship 11, Sea Scouts, who held a dance and bridge of honor for their own members and visiting ships Saturday. Above are Miss Deborah May, Fond du Lac, and Richard Kipp, Appleton. Ships from Chicago, Milwaukee and Fond du Lac, were guests, as were Valley Council Boy Scout leaders and members of other council explorer units. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Dress Uniforms and formal gowns were the order of the day for Sea Scout Ship 11's dance and bridge of honor Saturday evening at KP Hall. Above, the flag of the Valley Council unit was an important part of decorations. Looking at the setting are Miss Susan Thompson, Neenah; Richard Purchatzke, Appleton, Roger Flynn, Milwaukee, and Miss Annette Alger, Fond du Lac. At right, entering the dance area, are Daryl Boness, Neenah, and Miss Karin Sommer, Douglas Stark and Miss Lucette Deprez, all of Appleton.

Pair Says Promises Saturday

HORTONVILLE — Mrs. Ver-nah Mae Bork and Gerald W. Krueger, Appleton, were married at 4 p.m. Saturday at Bethlehem Evangelical Lutheran Church. The Rev. Charles Schlei officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bell, 123 W. Bath St., are the parents of the bride. The groom is the son of Mrs. Marge Wiza, 1517 1/2 W. Superior St., Appleton.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bell, Jr., a brother and sister-in-law of the bride, were the couple's

June in January Want to get out of the mid-winter doldrums? Rush the season a bit, and plan an indoor picnic. Traditional picnic fare, such as cold chicken and potato salad, is a welcome surprise in the family, and spread a picnic cloth, perhaps in front of the fireplace. It's one way to chase those winter blues.

Teen Complexions Clearly Complicated

Many young people with blemished skins become shut-ins in winter. They don't like to face the world, if they are acne ridden.

Fretting doesn't help the matter one bit—it may even aggravate it, points out dermatologist Dr. Irwin I. Lubowe in "A Teen-Age Guide to Healthy Skin and Hair."

Skin is a very complicated sheath and you can't solve its problems merely by squeezing blackheads or pimples. One impressive tidbit in the book is this:

Skin Complicated
A square-inch of skin contains 19,500,000 cells. There are 78 nerves, 650 sweat glands, 78 sensory apparatuses for heat, 13 for cold, 1,300 nerve endings to record pain, 19,500 sensory cells at the ends of nerve fibers, 160,165 pressure apparatuses for the sense of touch, 95 to 100 sebaceous glands, 65 hairs and muscles, 19 or 20 blood vessels.

The number of teen-agers with skin problems is high—perhaps as high as 85 per cent, he says.

"Acne should be treated by a physician," he explains. "Treatment can prevent so many miserable moments. It can restore self-confidence and poise. It can help a teen-ager feel and look more attractive. It can prevent a pitted and pock-marked face."

And that's one reason why early blemished skins should get attention—permanent skin damage can result from neglect or picking at the skin.

Hormone imbalance is one cause of acne, as he points out, but the wrong foods encourage acne or aggravate an acne condition. He singles out fatty foods — French fries, nuts, potato chips, peanut butter and animal fats found in butter, milk, cheese and fatty meats such as pork and ham. Chocolate, shellfish, spices and iodized salt may all aggravate skin problems, he suggests.

Faulty digestion and faulty elimination encourage it. Heredity and emotions can play a part—reasons why young people with acne should get advice from a physician or skin specialist.

Schedule Dances
The Village Squares will dance at the Combined Locks Pavilion Thursday. New dancers will begin at 7 30 p.m. and club dancing, 9 p.m.

Refreshments will be served after dancing. Lyle Leatherman will call.

The annual March of Dimes Dance is set for 8 30 to 11 30 p.m. Monday at the Darboy Club. The event is co-sponsored by the Village Squares, Grand Squares and Romeos and Calicos.

Terry Dawson to Head DeMolay Unit

Terry Dawson will be installed as master counselor of the John F. Rose chapter, Order of DeMolay, at a ceremony at 7 30 p.m. Saturday at the Masonic Temple. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dawson.

Other officers include John Davidson, senior counselor; Kenneth Rupright, junior counselor; Walter Kreitling, scribe-treasurer; David Fredrickson, senior deacon; John Haugner, Jr., junior deacon; Jon Van Dyke, junior steward; Mike Stevens, chaplain; Kenneth Frey, marshal; Charles LaRue, orator; Carlton Schultz, Jr., almoner; Gary Kuehnle, standard bearer; and Richard Hamann, sentinel.

Preceptors are: Charlton Schultz, Jr., James Bronson Stewart, Waltham Ray S. Bender, Jr., Ernie Trass, James Ochilfree and Gary Kuehnle.

Serving as installing officer will be Walter Kreitling, James Nieling, James Ochilfree, Steven Meyer and Ray Bender, Jr.

Good Skin Care
There are things that must be done to keep the skin in good shape. The skin must be cleaned regularly, greasy cosmetics avoided, scalp and hair must be kept clean as debris may be carried to the skin.

Doctor Lubowe's acne diet of fered in his book is basically a low-fat diet with a moderate allotment of carbohydrates and proteins. He believes anyone with skin problems should check a diet with his own doctor, who may want to recommend one that applies in the individual case.

Doctors replenish vitamins lost when certain foods must be avoided.

Essential Foods
This acne of Dr. Lubowe's stresses that foods from the four basic groups are essential every day. These are:

Milk group—Skim milk, margarine, cottage cheese, yogurt.

Meat and egg group—Broiled, boiled or roasted lean meats such as beef, veal, lamb, liver, fresh and broiled fish, broiled, broiled or roast poultry, poach

Your Problems

In-Laws Suggestion Condemned By Ann as Outrageous Affront

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: My in-laws just left and I am sick to my stomach. Yesterday their only daughter gave birth to her fourth son and they are so unhappy you would think somebody in the family had died. My husband and I have three fine boys (6, 4, and 2) and frankly, we are satisfied with things as they are. We wouldn't trade one of our sons for a million dollars but we wouldn't give two cents for a fourth one. Tonight my father-in-law took me aside and said it is up to me to have a girl. He insists that the law of averages will take care of me — that out of eight grandchildren one has to be a girl. He offered to pay all medical expenses and give us $5,000 if I will have another baby. I asked him what he would do if I had another boy. He replied, "It can't happen."

I am so mixed up I am half sick. Please advise me — Edith Dear Edith: It is outrageous that your in-laws regard you as a baby machine — and would stoop to bribery in an attempt to feed their sick egos. Insist that your husband silence his parents permanently.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My father reads your column every day and says you are a woman with a good head on your shoulders. He is a very stubborn person and will not listen to anybody, not even my mother. You are my last hope. I am 17 and a high school senior. My father says I cannot go with Rick because he is "physically unfit." Rick was turned down by the Navy because he has a weak heart. According to my father, if I marry Rick I will have to support him for the rest of my life.

I was not attracted to Rick for physical reasons. He is the kindest and most considerate person I have ever known. I have no plans to get married until I am 21, at least. And when I marry it won't be for looks, or physique or any such nonsense. Furthermore I may not even marry Rick. I just want to go with him.

Please print my letter and your answer — Seen, Not Heard

Dear Seen: Your father's reasoning is faulty.

Many young men who are rejected by the services for physical defects will lead active lives and live to a ripe old age. By the same token, it is not uncommon for a man who has always been in excellent health, to suddenly develop a disabling illness or even drop dead of a heart attack.

Please tell your dad that the woman with the good head on her shoulders hopes he will reconsider.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently my husband and I invited two couples to join us in celebrating my birthday. We decided to have dinner out and go night-clubbing.

Mrs. X telephoned me and said, "Vincent had to leave town. I hope you four don't mind taking a spare woman along. I've really been looking forward to tonight."

Well, we four did mind, and told her so. She has been very cool to us ever since. Were we wrong? — Q.T.X.

Dear Q.T.X.: Yes. You were wrong. The fifth wheel should have regretted both for herself and her husband and taken you off the hook. Since she did not, however, you should have put up with her — and graciously.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet

"Dating Do's and Don'ts." help you with your problems enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to

Young Can Aid Elders By Learning of Medicare

It's important for young families, as well as those eligible now, to understand federal health insurance benefits, advises Louise Young, family economics specialist at the University of Wisconsin. Families need to be aware of what the insurance (Medicare) can do for them to decide if they want to supplement it.

Most retired persons 65 or over qualify for the federal health insurance paid for by social security taxes. Persons receiving social security or railroad compensation are automatically covered. Persons not receiving social security can find out if they qualify by checking at a social security office. Beginning in 1968, one and a half years of social security will be required for eligibility.

As young families plan their own health needs and those of elders in their family, they need to be familiar with the federal insurance coverage. In all four aspects of this program the insurance covers the bulk of expenses, usually about 80 per

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Beautiful eyes have been woman's secret weapon since the time when Cleo lined her lids with kohl. The sooty effect was a bit too much. But it charmed Caesar and Anthony, the catcher of the day.

Although our eye make-up is more subtle, the old come-hither is still there. It is lost to some lovelies, however, owing to a sensitivity to eye cosmetics. After application, eyes tear and lids swell.

Here's where new hypoallergenic eye make-up provides glamour without tears. Before introduction these cosmetics were tested on women who had experienced allergic reaction to ordinary shadows and mascaras. The verdict was entirely satisfactory: enhanced eye beauty and safety, too.

Thus another approach to loveliness is open for sensitive skins via the hypoallergenic route. If you wish to take it, just make sure you know the way. Some confusion exists about desensitized products in general. Let's clear it up:

Hypoallergenic products are so labeled. They come in scented and unscented versions and should be so labeled. They are not medicated. The top grade is formulated, "R-xed," to screen out known allergens, and there are 60 or more. Why settle for less protection, when you have an easily irritated complexion?

Evergreens Face Greatest Damage Threat in Winter

Winter is the most trying time of year for evergreens, both needle and broadleaved. This is especially so after the serious drought much of the country experienced last year. To make matters worse, winter damage does not always show up at once. Frequently, pieces of branches, whole branches or even entire plants suddenly succumb with the arrival of hot weather—all of which can be avoided with proper care now, say garden experts.

The first thing to do is to make certain the soil around the plants out beyond the tips of the branches is covered with a good mulch to prevent too deep freezing and consequent tying up of what little moisture is in the soil. If sawdust, peat, buckwheat (or rice, peanut, cocoa) hulls or any other reasonably tight packing material is used, two inches is sufficient. With loose material like hay, straw, oak leaves, excelsior, etc., up to four or even six inches may be needed.

Preventive Medicine
On the first warm day, when the thermometer is sure to stay above freezing for several hours, spray the foliage on any plants in exposed locations or against sunny foundations with an anti-drying agent. These greatly reduce the rate of moisture loss from the leaves and prevent much winter "burning". Burlap wrappings or

Breakage Problems
Evergreen trees in foundation plantings also frequently suffer from snow landing on them from the roof or from water drip and ice coating. If it is not too late, it often prevents broken branches to trim off excess tails with a grass hook and then wrap the plants with twine, taping branches in.

Unhardened snow often can be combed off with a lawn rake or long-handled cultivator. If frozen, it can sometimes be melted off (on a warm day) with a hose and water. Occasionally, it can be melted off, too, with a liquid chemical fertilizer in a hand sprayer, but not always.

Evening Knits
You wouldn't believe they're knits, but they are — the glamorous new knitted fabrics of Creslan acrylic fiber that are designed especially for evening wear. Glowing with color and glittering with metallic threads, these new knits offer a dramatic and beautiful way to spend an evening.

Little Chute Board Reduces Costs of New High School

Shaves $11,000 From Electrical Contract; More Cuts Studied

LITTLE CHUTE — The board of education Monday night authorized terrazzo and ceramic tile combination for the locker reviewed construction costs of the new high school to determine possible cut backs in the program.

The savings will be used to purchase equipment and in other school programs.

Several deductions were accepted in the electrical contract resulting in a savings of $11,210. This included a $9,000 savings by eliminating contemplated stage lighting, a $200 savings by reducing the number of fixtures in a drafting room, a $400 savings by eliminating all but three corridor clocks, $760 for an underfloor duct in the commercial room and $50 for changing the type of fire alarm system.

A new type of stage lighting will be studied which could result in a savings of about $5,000 to the district. Also deducted were three stage windows which cut costs by another $534.

Consulting Firm to Help Clear Complaints of County Police

Outagamie Executive Committee Calls in Government Planners

An expected vote failed to materialize Monday afternoon in connection with raises and title changes for Outagamie County sheriff's investigators.

Instead, the county board's executive committee, deciding that the county police morale issue goes beyond their jurisdiction in some respects, approved calling in the J. L. Jacobs Co. to help solve a problem that has some board members concerned.

Before recessing for lunch Monday, the executive committee was ready to vote on a motion by Supv. Sylvester Esler (Appleton 18) to raise the salary grade and job position of sheriff's investigators from 14 to 16 and to restore the original title of lieutenants to the four investigators.

This was the step recommended by the board's law enforcement committee after it studied a letter Friday from Sheriff Calvin Spice in which he posed further discussion concerning sheriff's department grievances until Jacobs personnel arrive and can work with the executive committee in setting up sessions to work on issues that have arisen concerning the new plan in not only the sheriff's department, but also other Outagamie units.

Police Morale Issue

Much of the hour-long discussion that followed withdrawal of Esler's motion was not directly related to the police morale issue, but rather with county police organization in general.

Popping up again Monday afternoon was the topic of reorganization and merging the sheriff and traffic departments under one head with the appointment by the county of a chief deputy who would serve directly under the sheriff and in place of an undersheriff.

A similar proposal came before the county board at its December session and was referred for further study to a joint committee of the executive and law enforcement bodies.

At least one member of the executive committee felt Monday that machinery should be put swiftly into action to implement the reorganization. He was Supv. Marvin Babbitt (Seymour 2) who said, "If we're going to combine the two departments, now is the time, when there isn't a captain."

The captain position in the traffic bureau has been vacant since the recent resignation of Ronald Decker who quit for health reasons.

Several reorganization plans were mentioned but none received serious consideration Monday.

St. John School Parents' Night Set Wednesday

LITTLE CHUTE — Parents' Night will be observed at 8 p.m. Wednesday at St. John High School with visitors meeting teachers or attending extracurricular programs.

A social hour will be held for parents and faculty members. Students will bring report cards 12th St. Neenah, received a home Wednesday. Parents debator's degree in secondary education with a broad field discuss the students' work are major in science from Wisconsin State University-Whitewater.

'Our County Hospital' was the topic discussed by the four panelists, all staff members of the Outagamie County Hospital, at the annual meeting of the Outagamie County Mental Health Association Monday. They were, from left, Miss June Lepow, R. N., director of nursing; Dr. Joseph Weissler, psychiatrist and consultant; Mrs. Richard Farley, registered occupational therapist; and John Engle, director. More than 60 people attended. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Mayor Primary Set; Maves Files Papers

Federal Aid Program

Workshop Projects Planned for Deprived At Appleton Schools

Two proposals dealing with communicative arts which will be submitted to the State Department of Instruction, Madison, for federal aid available under Title I of the Primary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, were approved by the board of education Monday.

Under the provisions of this title, financial assistance to local educational agencies will be available for special programs aimed at children of families affected by poverty and or cultural disadvantages.

Communicative Arts

One of the projects is a communicative arts workshop, which is intended to develop the confidence and ability to speak fluently and freely, establish discriminating listening habits, improve reading ability stimulate written communication and develop an understanding of the integration of communication.

Each workshop will consist of two multi-aged groups of not more than 15 children for a daily two and a half hour integrated time block.

These workshops would be designed to meet the individual needs of the educationally deprived children selected by special tests and the recommendations of their teachers.

It is estimated that the cost of this project would be about $48,000.

Extended School Year

The corollary project which would involve an extended school year, is also based on

Extension of Drew Street Is Opposed

Foremost Dairies, Inc. today notified city officials it did not wish to undertake any expense which would be involved in the proposed extension of N. Drew Street.

George G. Ward, the firm's regional production manager, reported the company's position in a letter to Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), chairman of the city council's street-sanitation committee.

There has been some talk of extending Drew Street but planners have opposed it. Some private developers are anxious to get the extension.

However, Ward left the door open for future reconsideration when he wrote, "Our company has promised to review the matter later in the year, and will evaluate on the basis of conditions and circumstances that may then prevail."

If Drew Street were extended it would pass through property owned by Foremost Dairies.

Appleton Man Fined $35, Loses License

OSHKOSH — Jack Nagel, 29, 700 S. Fairview St., Appleton was fined $35 and costs and his drivers license suspended for 15 days today in Winnebago County Court after he pleaded guilty of speeding.

He was arrested by state police at U.S. 41 and State 150 after being timed at speeds up to 27 miles over the speed limit.

1st Runoff for Mayor's Post In 3 Decades

Appleton's first primary election for mayor in three decades was assured today with the filing of nomination papers by Robert T. Maves, a former city clerk.

Maves became an official candidate when he filed, four days after he decided to seek the $14,000 a year post and obtained papers at the city clerk's office.

At noon today, with five hours remaining for additional candidates to file before the statutory deadline, the field of official mayoral candidates included: —Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell, 49, of 312 W. Lindbergh St., seeking re-election to his fifth consecutive term.

Defeated by Mitchell

George Buckley, 49, 2204 N. Viola St., a former alderman and practicing attorney who was beaten by Mitchell two years ago.

—Maves, 1903 E. Glendale Ave., presently an insurance underwriter for Mutual of New York.

The primary became automatic when Maves filed his papers at the clerk's office at 11 a.m., putting three in the race for the mayor's office. Maves had indicated last summer that he was thinking about running.

Possible Candidates

There was a strong possibility that two more residents would be in the mayor's race before the filing deadline.

On Nov. 26, George F. Hennessey, 57, of 1534 E. Wisconsin Ave., announced his candidacy and took out papers. He is self-employed.

And on Jan. 13, Ronald H. Steward, 34, of 412 W. Commercial St., disclosed his decision to seek the mayor's office. He is employed at the Good Housekeeping Shop. Previously, Albert G. Gerhardt of 1221 E. Fremont St. and Edwin N. Petersen, 826½ W. Fourth St., obtained papers but eventually announced they would not file.

Field to be Narrowed

In the March 8 primary, the field will be narrowed down to the two candidates getting the most votes. They will then face each other at the April 5 general election.

There will also be primaries for city clerk and assessor. The only unopposed city official as of today was Treas. Ray Feuerstein, 802 N. Appleton St., who filed papers seeking his fifth term.

Former Appleton Man Dies in Florida

Myron H. Terrill, 69, former Appleton resident when he was an insurance adjuster here from 1933 to 1957, died Monday at St. Petersburg, Fla. He went from Appleton to Madison and moved to Florida when he retired conducted in the next few weeks at schools throughout the state, as well as some in adjoining states.

Lawrence Sets Talk On Viet Nam Dilemma

Government, History Professor to Discuss Problems in First of Great Decisions Parleys

Dr. Minor Adenwalla, Lawrence University associate professor of history and government, will speak at the first of this year's Great Decisions meetings at noon Thursday in the Terrace Room of Lawrence Memorial Union.

He will discuss "Struggle for Viet Nam: What Stakes: What Options for the U.S.?"

Dr. Adenwalla

The program is part of an eight-week discussion series sponsored by the Lawrence Alumni Association under auspices of the Foreign Policy Association. Meetings consist of a noon luncheon, topical presentation and group discussion. A limited number of reservations are being accepted at the Alumni Office, 706 E. College Ave.

Focus of Discussions

The Great Decisions' Viet Nam discussion will focus on such questions as U. S. national security, American commitments to the Vietnamese people, whether to withdraw or negotiate, and whether the war can be won.

Native of Poona

Dr. Adenwalla, a native of Poona, India, has been concerned with Asian studies at Lawrence. He was author of a survey, "Asian Studies at Lawrence College," published by the Association of American Colleges (1961), and is a member of the Association for Asian Studies and the Midwest Conference on Asian Affairs.

He was educated at the New Era School, Bombay, India, and received a B. A. degree in English literature from Wilson College, Bombay University. In this country he earned masters and doctorate degrees in political science at Northwestern University.

He served a year as teaching fellow at Bombay University, and three years as a teaching assistant at Northwestern before joining the Lawrence faculty in 1959. He taught political science at Kenyon College of Ohio and the University of Missouri.

During the academic year 1962-63 he studied as a Howard Foundation Fellow while on leave from Lawrence.

KAUKAUNA—Despite temperatures hovering near the zero mark, about 300 youngsters turned out for the recreation department's ice carnival Sunday, according to James Gertz, recreation director.

Peewee winners in 1-lap races were Susie Gerow, Lisa Kettner and Susie Niesen in girls' competition and Ralph Geiger, Corey Brandt and Brian Hacker in boys' events.

Teachers in Menasha Get New Salaries

MENASHA — A salary schedule for Menasha teachers with a $5,150 base rate was unanimously adopted by the board of education Monday night.

This will be the basis for further mediation and negotiation with members of Menasha Teachers Union Local 1166 AFL-CIO in a contract for the 1966-67 school year.

Jan. 10 the board acted to resume mediation with Local 1166 on all items other than salaries. The personnel committee headed by Raymond Pockette now has authority to continue in the mediation in all areas.

Robert Bryan, chairman of the finance committee, commented when the new salary schedule was submitted that "it is based on materials gathered over the last several months. There are some changes and increases from previous offers which we have presented in our negotiations with the union. However, I believe that we should make it perfectly clear that we are not knuckling down to the union demands or the reports which have been in the newspapers these past few days."

Two Women Get Jaycee Honors

NEENAH - MENASHA — For the first time in its history, the Junior Chamber of Commerce has selected co-winners for the Outstanding Woman of the Year award.

Mrs. Richard Hands, Mrs. Wisconsin, and Miss Aileen Remmel, VNA director, were named Monday for distinguished service awards.

Third District Assemblyman David O. Martin was named Outstanding Man of the Year. Three high school students also were honored with Meritorious Service Awards for outstanding leadership and scholarship. Presented with plaques were Michael Kettenhofen, St. Mary's High School; Peter Kuehl, Neenah High School, and the court trial Monday were John Herziger, Menasha High School and four Appleton policemen.

Lodholz was arrested at his home following the one-car accident. He pleaded innocent to Oct. 1. Among those who testified at the court trial Monday were John Herziger, Menasha High School and four Appleton policemen.

It was the first major power outage since the four hour breakdown in service in July of 1963. At that time water pressure also dropped off because of the power failure.

McGuire said the city's water plant was kept in service this morning by the use of an emergency power diesel engine at the plant.

Full pressure was established after about a half-hour's work on unclogging the coal feeding system.

This was a situation, McGuire said, in which the proposed interconnection with the Kaukauna municipal utility, now under study, could have been used.

Classes will get underway Feb. 10. Sessions to run from 7:00 to 9 p.m. Registration can be made by calling the school will be announced at the meeting.

Coal Blocks Stokers; Power Fails

MENASHA — Homes and industries were without power for about a half hour early this morning because of blocked-up stokers at the steam plant.

The stokers were blocked by wet and frozen coal. Utility Supt. Thomas McGuire said this morning. When the soggy coal slowed down the stoking action at the Lush Street plant, the pressure dropped off sharply about 3 a.m. from 850 pounds per square inch to a little over 300.

Three Cases Of Salmonella In Appleton

Health Department Says Children Had Disease In December

Three cases of salmonella, a gastro-intestinal infection, were reported among young children in Appleton during December.

The cases were listed in the monthly report of the Appleton Health Department which also showed this area is again in the grip of a measles outbreak.

Salmonella is reportable to the State Board of Health which in turn reports the cases to the local health department. One of its common causes is food poisoning. It is an infection or disease caused by bacteria.

Local health authorities said they had no case records on the three incidents reported here in December. They indicated the patients would be treated by their family physicians.

One youngster contracting the disease was 2½ months old and the other two were seven years old. The health department did not know if any of the cases are serious.

Salmonella is typically marked by gastroenteritis. Some people can be "carriers" of the disease without incurring extreme illness.

207 Cases of Measles There were 207 cases of measles reported in Appleton last month and the rate continues to increase during January, according to the health report. There were also 70 reportable cases of chicken pox and 42 of mumps.

During November-December there were 12 illegitimate births at the two local hospitals.

Attendees also were seeing double in maternity wards with two sets of twins born in December and three sets in November.

Heart diseases were the No. 1 killer in Appleton for the two-month period with 14 deaths reported in November and 13 in December.

Operating a motor vehicle after his driver's license had been revoked brought Larry M. Fisher, 19, 235 W. Wisconsin Ave., 20 days in jail Monday.

Fisher, arrested Friday night by Appleton police, pleaded guilty to that charge and to one of hit and run. He was fined $35 and costs or 16 days on the second count.

Police said the Appleton youth's car struck a parked vehicle about 10:25 p.m. at Seymour Street and Memorial Drive.

Krause, Town of Liberty treasurer for the past 17 years, will oppose Supv. Walter F. Fredericks (New London 3) in District 41.

School Board

A life-long county resident, Krause also served six years on the Immanuel Lutheran School board in New London. He is a farmer. Krause and his wife, Irma, have four children.

Conradt's lone opponent in District 46 is Supv. Cecil Carpenter (Town of Maine) although Supv. Norman Knorr (Village of Shiocott) has taken out papers.

Conradt has been Bovina supervisor for 13 years and presently is vice chairman of the county highway committee on which he has served 10 years. He also is on the executive committee.

The Bovina supervisor was elected to the State Assembly in 1964, representing Outagamie County's Third District.

Bubolz Vs. Catlin

The contest between Bubolz and Catlin could be one of the election highlights since both men are prominent in Appleton affairs.

Catlin is completing his sixth term on the county board and serves as chairman of the airport committee.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, the Appleton attorney served 14 years in the Wisconsin legislature. He has practiced law here since 1933 and is a life-long resident of the city.

Catlin, who attended Lawrence University for one year, saw active duty in the Pacific during World War II while in the Marine Corps. He and his wife, Helen, have three children.

Bubolz also is a life-long Appleton resident and has been in the insurance business since 1960. He is a partner in the Bubolz-Hoepfner Insurance and Real Estate Agency.

The District 8 candidate graduated from Appleton High School in 1954 and received his B.S. degree in electrical engineering at Valparaiso University in 1959. He also studied law at the University of Wisconsin.

Bubolz, president of the Midwest Properties and a member of the Appleton Board of Realtors, also is vice president of the Aqua Foxes Water Ski Club. He has been active in the March of Dimes and in conservation programs.

Bubolz and his wife have two children.

Steinhauer, who will oppose Robert H. Weyenberg in District 33, is employed at Kimberly-Clark Corp., Kimberly. He is a life-long resident of Outagamie County. He and his wife, Agnes, have two sons.

Loehning Files Papers, Seeks Third Term

Political Career Includes 19 Years As Alderman

NEENAH — Incumbent Mayor Carl E. Loehning filed completed nomination papers for the April election this morning.

Mayor Loehning will be completing his second term as full time mayor, having previously served three terms in the mayoralty as a part time mayor. Mayor Loehning represented the Fifth Ward as alderman for 19 years.

Loehning, a retired Kimberly Clark Corp. employee, said this morning he desires to see the city administration building finalized during the next two years and final plans for the grade separation of W. Cecil Street and U.S. 41 completed.

The next two years will be devoted to making the city even more attractive to industry, Loehning said.

"I hope to carry on as in the past," Loehning said, "to keep the city progressive, carry out programs in existence and render the same service as in the past."

Primary Set For Mayor's Job In Appleton

to be filled this spring drew attention today with the filing of papers by John A. Schneider, 628 E. South River St., an incumbent, and Max Hensel, 1007 E. Glendale Ave., an accountant and chairman of the city council's personnel committee.

Hensel is the committee's citizen member and intends to resign that post to campaign.

In other developments:

— Ald. Roy H. Pointer (14th) who lives at 943 E. Frances St., filed papers and seeks re-election to another two-year term on the city council of Appleton Wire Works.

— Robert Parnell, 220 W. Parkway, an employee at Tuttle Press, filed papers and became a candidate for 16th Ward alderman.

— John A. Roemer, 727 S. Story St., a salesman at Al Rudolph Motors, became a candidate for 6th Ward alderman when he filed.

As of noon today, 32 residents have filed papers for various municipal offices.

Two File Papers For Ward Posts

NEENAH — Robert Frank 409 Caroline St. and Stanley Drews, 621 Maple St. have filed completed nomination papers for alderman of the Fourth and Eighth Wards, respectively.

Both men are letter carriers and were not available for comment today.

Neither has had previous experience of public office. Carl B. Coenen, 649 Wilson St., took out nomination papers for the mayoralty Monday.

Coenen is a braider operator for Kimberly Clark Corp. and previously served the city as alderman for six years.

Today was the final day for filing completed papers.

Find Man, 61, Dead in Home

OSHKOSH — Martin Heider, 61, route 1, Neenah, was found dead today with a self-inflicted shotgun wound in his chest in the basement of his home, according to Coroner Art C. Miller.

George Prye, 946 Adams St., Neenah, found the body about 8 a.m. when he went to the Heider home for a planned rabbit hunt. Winnebago County police said, Prye told police Heider's dog was lying beside the body when he arrived.

Miller established the time of death about 11 p.m. Monday.

Prye told police he let himself into the house when he failed to arouse anyone. Heider lived alone.

Gerald (Bert) Lopas has been named a new sergeant of the Kaukauna police department. He receives his badge above from Police Chief Harold Engerson, right.

Mechanic Vows Thrift

4th Mayor Candidate Promises Fiscal Savings

MENASHA — Earl Kohler will question the expenditure closely, he said.

In regard to the estimated $700,000 cost of the building papers, the chief mechanic at the city garage kicked off his campaign with a statement that the central plank in his platform will be "thriftiness in government."

"It is high time the lower levels of government took complete assessment of themselves and establish the techniques as used in a business when your tax dollar is being expended," he said.

"If I am elected mayor of this city, I will guarantee savings in the thousands of dollars each year that I will account to you, the public and the council of the city," Kohler said.

Kohler, who has been president of Local 1035 of the Menasha City Employees Union, AFL-CIO, added, "It has taken me 13 years to acquire this knowledge in our city, but I now have it and know how to employ it and will."

When the final figure is arrived at for the proposed municipal building complex, he said.

Tipsy Driver Fined $100

Driver's License Of Waupaca Man Revoked for 1 Year

WAUPACA — Raymond T. Taden, 38, 304 High St., was fined $100 and costs and his driver's license was revoked for one year Monday when he appeared in Municipal Justice Court and pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Taden was arrested here Sunday by city police. He tested 26 on the breathalyzer. A reading of 15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Hopefuls File For Menasha School Posts

Two Challengers Bring Total of Candidates to Four

MENASHA — Two more candidates threw their hats into the contest for school board commissioner as they filed completed nomination papers today.

The new challengers for the two open three-year board positions are Robert T. Kichefski, 1430 Bonnie Drive, Town of Menasha, and Chester Makofski, 809 Tayco St.

Kichefski, superintendent of the Marathon Products cut and crease department, announced today that he'll leave even on Wednesday, Dr. restudy of the school curriculum to provide for advanced education for both college and non-college students.

Supports Action Supporting "an action school board rather than a reaction board," Kichefski said there was a need for the board to do more planning ahead. Thirdly, he said the board must make an offer to the teachers that will be a compatible and competitive with other communities.

He is a graduate of the University of Miami in industrial engineering, he said, and has been active in the Clovis Grove Elementary School PTA for the last three years, serving as president last year.

Makofski has been with Marathon Products for the last 32 years and is a rolograver specialist.

On the issue of teachers' salaries, now in mediation, he said "board members should be ever alert in keeping the teachers' salaries rate on a comparable basis with other cities of our size and status."

Harmonious Attitude He said it is a prime concern of his to keep a "harmonious attitude with the teaching personnel."

Like Kichefski, hesitated that it is necessary to look into the needs of students who cannot or do not intend to seek higher education. "After all, students in both categories will eventually become the senior citizens of this area," he said.

Nominations close at 5 p.m. today. Four candidates are now in the running for the two board posts. The other two are incumbent Mrs. Fern Gaertner and James Tennesen.

sometimes liars figure." It will be the third contest between Kohler and incumbent Tures. The candidate said his Mayor John Klein, Klein bested campaign maxim would be the Kohler in the 1962 primary and proverb: "Figures don't lie, but in the 1964 city election.

Celeste Holm Still Confined To Hospital

OSHKOSH — Actress Celeste Holm continued to receive therapy treatments on her neck today at Mercy Hospital here where she has been confined since Monday.

Miss Holm, in Oshkosh for a "Save the Grand" dinner and dance Saturday evening at the Pioneer, has had sharp pains in her back since early Sunday morning. Dr. Paul C. Whyte, chairman of the "Save the Grand" committee, said today that the movie star indicated she "was going to stay at the hospital until the trouble departed."

The actress will not be flying today as was planned and may not be able to leave even on Wednesday, Dr. Whyte stated.

He reported that Miss Holm has pain starting at the base of the skull and extending below the shoulder blades on either side. It was thought that the injury was a recurrence of a pinched nerve but it may be a type of inflammation, Dr. Whyte said.

Miss Holm was supposed to be in Chicago Wednesday for a television interview and in Dallas, Tex., Thursday for a benefit program. Dr. Whyte stated that if the pain doesn't subside the actress "may be here until the end of the week."

Scheduled tours to the Bergstrom Paper Co., Neenah, were cancelled yesterday after Miss Holm complained of pain during therapy.

Two Drivers Fined $10 After Accidents

KAUKAUNA — Two motorists pleaded guilty of traffic violations which resulted in minor accidents and each was fined $10 by Oscar T. Jahns, municipal justice, Monday.

Mrs. Karela Kilgas, 408 Klein St., Kaukauna, pleaded guilty of failure to yield right of way, resulting in a Sunday morning mishap, and Miss Karen Mayeri, 18, 400 Plank Road, Kaukauna, pleaded guilty of driving without wearing glasses in violation of her driver's license. The car she was driving was involved in an accident shortly after noon Friday.

Girl Taken to Hospital After Skating Accident

Linda Treichel, 12, 839 E. John St., is in St. Elizabeth Hospital today for treatment of left arm and wrist injuries she received after falling while ice skating about 7:45 p.m. Monday at Jones Park.

She was taken to the hospital in Lundy's Ambulance.

Civil Rights Act Conditionally Retroactive U. S. Court Rules

Conviction Under State Statutes In Violation of Law Is Set Aside

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS signing up prospective voters at the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of appeals in New Orleans has ruled that the 1964 Civil Rights Act is retroactive when applied in cases involving the conviction of persons under state laws violating the act.

The 2-1 ruling Monday came in a case involving the conviction of a civil rights worker in Atlanta before Congress enacted the civil rights law.

The court ordered the conviction of Tom Taylor Tolg, who was a graduate assistant at Miami University of Ohio, voided and directed a federal court in Atlanta to grant a writ of habeas corpus and order Tolg's release.

Congress Gets Testimony on Viet Nam War

McNamara Speaks to House, Senate Hears Views of Military

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators got the Navy, Marine and Air Force view of the Viet Nam war today after hearing Army Chief of Staff Harold K. Johnson outline the possibilities of the war exploding into a much broader conflict.

On the House side of the Capitol, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara continue his marathon testimony to congressional committees after saving the quick U. S. build-up in Viet Nam had no parallel.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said Gen. Johnson included his appraisal in secret testimony Monday before senators weighing the administration's request for $12.76 billion in additional Viet Nam funds this year.

Johnson, Russell said, found "the over-all military situation had improved somewhat over what it was a year ago." Johnson gave much of the credit to "the morale of the Vietnamese people, which has improved greatly," Russell said.

The Vietnamese, the general said, got a big lift from the growing number of American soldiers arriving.

But Russell made clear that Johnson's testimony wasn't all bright.

Johnson pointed out the possibilities of the war developing into a much wider conflict and defined more clearly the difficulties our soldiers are encountering," Russell said.

Russell said the witnesses today would be Adm. David L. McDonald, chief of naval operations; Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff, and Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., Marine Corps commandant.

Charge to Jury Expected in Fraud Trial of Krebiozen Promoters

CHICAGO (AP)—Half of the 42-count, 78-page indictment charging four supporters of Krebiozen with fraud and conspiracy was read Monday to the jury which will decide their fate.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman spent 55 minutes reading general instructions to the jury and then finished reading one-half of the indictment.

He said he would complete charging the jury today. It was not known exactly when the jury would receive the case.

Judge Hoffman must also read 200 specific instructions to the jury.

The jury began hearing the case April 28. The trial ends its ninth month Friday.

Closing Arguments

The defendants are Dr. Stevan Durovic, 60, developer of Krebiozen; his brother, Marko, 64, a lawyer; Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, 72, chief sponsor of the substance and director of medical research at Roosevelt University; and Dr. William F.P. Phillips, 52, a general practitioner who has administered Krebiozen.

They are accused of fraud and conspiracy in the sale and promotion of Krebiozen. The government contends the drug is worthless in the treatment of cancer.

The chief government prosecutor, D. Arthur Connelly, termed promotion and sale of the drug as "one of the biggest swindles in history" in closing remarks.

A series of exchanges arose for the assertion that despite a defense statement that 60,000 ampules of the drug were donated, the Krebiozen sponsors could have amassed $1.9 million.

Edward J. Calihan, representing Dr. Durovic, protested to Judge Hoffman that bank records in evidence did not show sums paid out by Dr. Durovic as expenses of producing the drug.

Defendants also had testified that large sums were paid to creditors in Argentina of Dr. Durovic and Marko.

"We have evidence that they sent hundreds of thousands of dollars to banks in Canada and Switzerland," Connelly told the jury. "And mind you, there is no evidence of funds going to Argentina."

Delinquent Corporation Fees Total $3 Million

BOSTON (AP) — Secretary of State Kevin H. White says that the state will collect $3 million in delinquent corporation fees this year under a new procedure.

White said the state will collect money from 28,000 corporations that now are not filing the annual certificates of condition and the $25 fee.

Seek Recognition Of Viet Cong Party

Negotiations Must Be Carried on With Guerrillas, Fulbright Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright's suggestion that the Viet Cong be recognized as a major party to any negotiations to end the war in Viet Nam drew mixed reaction today on Capitol Hill.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Monday that the war is between the Viet Cong guerrillas, supported by North Viet Nam, and the United States and South Viet Nam.

"It would seem to me a proper party to the negotiations would be the Viet Cong," Fulbright told newsmen.

He said that "the policy of not recognizing the Viet Cong as a major party to any negotiations may be a stumbling block to the peace offensive."

Fulbright made his remarks after Secretary of State Dean Rusk explained the administration's position at a three-hour closed committee session.

Rusk doesn't agree. Questioned by newsmen, Fulbright said he had mentioned his suggestions to Rusk, but the secretary "doesn't agree."

A Republican member of Fulbright's committee, Sen. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, said he didn't believe that recognition of the Viet Cong was a major factor.

Case told a reporter, "I assume from what the President said that our position is flexible enough to make it not a major factor in the discussions or affecting the possibility of negotiations and that it is one of those things that is not wrong to."

Fired License Examiner Asks For Hearing

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A New Berlin official fired last week as supervisor of driver license examiners in Milwaukee appealed his dismissal Monday to the State Board of Personnel.

Frank Lohr, 59, asked that the State Motor Vehicle Department list the charges on which he was dismissed.

Lohr was the second of three employees discharged at the department's Milwaukee office to lodge an appeal. The board has already set a hearing Feb. 4 on the appeal by Jack N. Gurrath, license examiner.

C. K. Wetengel, director of the Bureau of Personnel, said the hearing for Lohr would probably be conducted at the same time.

Bidwell Denies Existence Of Dissension Among Players

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The president of the St. Louis Cardinals, who left the Cardinals as coach recently, also denied the possibility of League emphatically denied Monday that astronomical contracts for rookies brought his club close to mutiny last season.

"There was no mutiny on our part, nor anything close to it," Charles Bidwell told the St. Louis Globe-Democrat in a telephone interview from Washington, D.C.

"Were any of our players unhappy about the big contracts given rookies?" he asked rhetorically. "Of course, they were. So were we. We didn't like the idea of paying out big bonuses to untried players any more than anybody else does."

A Globe-Democrat story Monday quoted "a source close to the players" as saying veteran members of the Cardinals were in "a state of near mutiny" when rookies kept on the taxi making most of the season were making more money than veteran regulars.

"This was thoroughly aired at contract time. We felt then that he had treated our veteran players with the respect due them and that unhappiness over the bonus situation was ended."

Wally Lemm, who left the Cardinals as coach recently, also denied the possibility of dissension over rookies' contracts.

"If there is some player on our team who is dissatisfied," Bidwell continued, "all he has to do is come in and tell me or my brother (Vice President Bill Bidwell) about it. We'll be happy to deal him some place else if he doesn't like it in St. Louis."

No players has spoken to him or his brother about being unhappy, he said.

"Bill and I recognized that the situation could be a troublesome one," he added. "That's why we went to great pains in our negotiating contracts to make sure that our veterans understood and appreciated the current problem."

"We were thoroughly aired at contract time. We felt then that he had treated our veteran players with the respect due them and that unhappiness over the bonus situation was ended."

Gene Englund Sr., to be Feted At Reunion of UW's '41 Title Quint

Bud Foster, Fritz Wegner, Bob Roth Also Have Oshkosh Backgrounds

BY DOUG KOPLIEN Post-Crescent Staff Writer OSHKOSH — When the University of Wisconsin cage champions from 1941 meet in Madison Saturday for the 25th anniversary of the team, Oshkosh will be represented.

This was the team that brought the only national championship to Wisconsin since 1918, and its only undisputed Big 10 championship in 23 years.

Oshkosh contributed more than its fair share to that championship team. Fritz Wegner, assistant coach, was originally from Oshkosh, and Bob Roth, a second-team guard, is also an Oshkosh native.

Gene Englund Sr., a former Oshkosh All-Star center, now living in Oshkosh will be there as will Roth.

Three other players from that national championship team went on to play for the All-Stars. Ed Scheiwe, now in Chamblage, Ga.; Bob Sullivan, now living in Manitowish and Fred Rehm, now in Milwaukee.

John Kotz, who went into professional basketball for the Sheboygan Redskins is living in Madison.

Harold (Bud) Foster, head coach of the 1941 squad, lived in Oshkosh while playing with the All-Stars and married a former Oshkosh girl.

The scores seem to indicate that basketball is either getting better shooters or there are more shots.

During the 1940-41 season the Badgers' top score was 65 points when they downed Chicago, 65-25, in working their way to the NCAA championships.

The closest and probably best remembered by members of the squad is when Wisconsin downed Dartmouth, 51-50, to win the right to go into the finals for the Eastern NCAA playoffs.

In the next game they breezed past Pittsburgh, 36-30.

Then on March 29, the Badgers met the Washington State Cougars and the University of Wisconsin came out on the long

Winneconne to Face Freedom's Cage Challenge

Little 9 Teams Will See Action This Week

LITTLE NINE CONFERENCE
Winneconne	7	9	Hilbert	3
Omro	6	1	Hortonville	3
Brillion	5	1	Denmark	1
Reedsville	4	2	Wrightstown	1
Freedom	4	2	Shiocton	0

Winneconne, seeking its 20th straight victory in Little Nine Conference action over a 2-season span, invades Freedom in the circuit's feature attraction tonight.

The Jim Hansen-coached Irish rely on the scoring of 6-4 center Jack Van Eperen, 6-3 forward Gerald Kieffer and guard Pat Carney. Winneconne's attack centers around 6-6 center Tom Nickel.

The Irish loom as a definite threat in Winneconne's path to an unbeaten conference season. Runnerup Omro tangles with Hortonville's resurgent Polar Bears on the latter's court.

Other games tonight send Denmark to Wrightstown, Reedsville to Shiocton and Hilbert to Brillion.

Friday's schedule finds Winneconne at Shiocton. Hilbert at Denmark, Freedom at Omro, Brillion at Hortonville and Wrightstown at Reedsville.

Thus, Freedom faces the toughest task of the loop's first division contenders with games against pace-setting Winneconne and second place Omro this week.

Omro guard Jeff Stang took over the individual scoring lead from Winneconne's Nickel with 31 points against Shiocton last Friday. Stang hiked his 7-game total to 201, just one point more than Nickel. Brillion's John Haun ranks third with 143 points, followed by Reedsville's Ron Nohr, with 131. Carney is fifth with 124.

The remainder of the top 10 includes Van Eperen 117, Kieffer, 118, Hilbert's Jim Diener, 113, Brillion's Russ Rohrdanz, 107, and Wrightstown's Neil Zastrow, 103.

Xavier JV Quint Avenges Defeat

The Xavier High School junior varsity basketball team avenged an earlier loss to Green Bay, Premontre by handing the Badgers a 61-52 setback here Saturday night.

The victory hiked the Bob Pliska-coached Hawks to a 6-2 mark in Fox Valley Catholic Conference action. Premontre is also 6-2.

John Erchul and Dan Schwetzer led the Junior Hawks with 18 and 15 points, while Dave Vallard added 13. Steve Nockerts topped the Cadet juniors with 17.

Ken Boyer Signs Pact With Mets, Looks Forward to '66 Season

Skowron, Santo And Pascual Also Approve Contracts

By ED SCHUYLER JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

Ken Boyer has been booted twice since last baseball season of 1964. Boyer reportedly got in — once by the Cardinals and the neighborhood of $65,000, the once by a horse.

The veteran third baseman, traded during the off-season by St. Louis, announced Monday while working out in a gym that he has signed his 1966 contract with the New York Mets, who have been kicked about quite a bit themselves.

Explaining a patch just below his left knee, Boyer said:

"One of my horses kicked me some time ago. I had eight stitches, but it doesn't bother me. It won't hurt my playing."

Gets $65,000

The National League's Most Valuable Player in the Cardinals' world championship year twice since last season, Boyer was dealt to New York by the Cardinals and the neighborhood of $65,000, the figure he was said to have received from St. Louis.

"I was very pleased with the St. Louis, announced Monday while working out in a gym that he has signed his 1966 contract with the New York Mets, who have been kicked about quite a bit themselves.

Medford Rink Wins Crown Second-Event Title In Lions' Bonspiel Goes to Cal Falk

WAUPACA — Two Medford rinks battled Sunday for the State Lions Club Bonspiel title with the Bill Persch rink being victorious 8-4. The 2-day 'spiel was held at the Waupaca Curling Club.

In the second event, the Cal Falk rink, Appleton, made a strong comeback after being down 10-0 at the end of five ends to post a 11-10 victory over Waupaca's Gusmer rink. A Monroe rink skipped by Bob Goetz went on to take 16-5 win from Stevens Point in the third event finals.

There were 12 rinks entered. Cities represented in the event were Clintonville, Stevens Point, Appleton, Medford, Monroe and Waupaca.

C. Kenneth Peterson acted as general chairman of the bonspiel for the host Waupaca Lions Club. He was assisted by Harold Bammel and Fred Rawson.

K-C Captures First Place in 'Y' Olympics

Kimberly-Clark has taken over the lead in the Appleton YMCA Industrial Olympics. Smith won the cribbage doubles title with a total of 520 points.

Appleton Coated Paper is second in the team standings with 440 points. Institute of Paper Chemistry has 435.

In the chess tournament, Dr. Curtis Brown, IPC, won the championship by defeating Dick Bunko, Presto Products, in the finals.

In the cribbage singles, George DeYoung, Kimberly Clark won the individual championship despite the fact that Cornelius Van Handel, of the IPC team held a perfect (29) hand. The Allis-Chalmers team of Louis Grishaber and Don Smith won the cribbage doubles title.

The IPC team also won the rifle shooting title, with a 454 score. Members of the winning team included Fred Sweeney, Richard Labreque, M. A. Buchanan, Miles Bensen and John Bachhuber.

Events on the schedule for this week include archery, sheephead and straight pool.

Commissioner Eckert Cites Need for Public Relations Work by Baseball

By LEW FERGUSON ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Newly elected baseball Commissioner William Eckert said Monday he thinks baseball has some public relations spade work to do to maintain its image, but he is not overly concerned about the rising popularity of professional football.

"I'm not running scared because of any threat from football," Eckert told a group of newsmen at a luncheon staged for Eckert by Minnesota Twins President Calvin Griffith.

"I think that baseball can certainly hold its own against football, or any other sport," Eckert added. "When you look at the statistics, which show the millions who watch baseball, I don't think you need to worry too much about it."

"Baseball has a fascination no other sport has. It takes more personal skill."

Part of Concerted Effort Eckert appeared in the Twin Cities for a winter baseball writers' dinner honoring the American League champion had crept up since he took office. Eckert replied, "I'm not of a concerted effort on his part to tour as many major league yet."

He surprised with his quips problems as expansion, "making the game more attractive" through improved public relations, and the question of whether the commissioner is entrusted with enough authority or if he is dominated by the owners.

He elaborated on none of these matters, other than to say committees will be appointed soon to study all of them.

He said interleague play certainly is a matter for much consideration. Obviously, you'd get more competition initially, but Eckert said he viewed the commissioner's job as "primarily a judicial job of settling disputes," and said he had seen a lot of similarities between it and the military.

Duke '5' and Kentucky Stay 1-2 in AP Poll

By BEN OLAN Associated Press Sports Writer

Duke and Kentucky, both idle last week because of mid-year examinations, continued at the head of the class in The Associated Press major-college basketball poll today. Failing grades affected the status of St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania, Kansas and Bradley.

St. Joseph's, upset by St. John's of New York, 82-72, dropped two places to fifth. Kansas, sixth a week ago, fell to ninth after losing to Nebraska 83-75 while Bradley, seventh last week, slipped out of the rankings.

Cincinnati, which defeated the Peoria, Ill., Braves 85-69, replaced them in the Top Ten, advancing to the No. 8 position. The Bearcats were unranked a week ago.

Duke, 14-1, collected 28 first-place votes and 397 points in the latest voting by a special panel of 43 regional experts based on games through last Saturday.

Kentucky, unbeaten in 12 games, had 14 votes for the top spot and 390 points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc. The Wildcats trailed Duke by only three points last week.

Kentucky Rolls to 111-85 Triumph

Wildcats Notch 13th Straight; 11 in Row for Chicago Loyola

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer

Either Adolph Rupp has sold his Kentucky Wildcats short or the Baron's needle has found its mark again.

The unbeaten, nationally second-ranked Wildcats rolled to their 13th victory Monday night, burying Louisiana State 111-85 under a deadly volley led by sophomore Thad Jaracz.

It was the second straight point spree in Southeastern Conference play for the Cats, who may be reacting to a well-aimed barb from their 64-year-old pilot.

"This team just does not have the killer instinct," Rupp complained two weeks ago after Kentucky squeezed past Georgia 69-65 in two overtimes after blowing a 13-point halftime lead.

The remark was enough to send the Wildcats on a second-half rampage that trampled powerful Vanderbilt 96-83 five days later. After staggering Vandy with 65 per cent shooting in the second half, they picked up the tempo in the first half of Monday's game against LSU at Lexington, Ky.

Kentucky hit on 73 per cent of its field goal attempts and stormed to a 66-43 halftime margin. The Wildcats wound up with a 58.4 field goal percentage with Jaracz connecting on 11 of his 15 shots.

While Rupp nailed his 753rd career victory, Chicago Loyola — only other member of The Associated Press' Top Ten in action — extended its winning string to 11 by trouncing visiting Marshall 92-68 behind the torrid shooting of Alan Miller.

Shot 12 for 20

Miller, a 6-foot-2 soph, shot 12 for 20 from the field, pacing the No. 7 Ramblers to their 13th victory in 14 starts. Jim Coleman, Loyola's leading scorer, was held to three points but Corky Bell supported Miller with 17.

Tennessee, one of the clubs given a chance of overhauling Kentucky in the SEC race, exploded for a school point record in routing the touring University of Missouri team 121-42. Ron Wideman, coached by Jim Umstead, dropped in 19 points and six teammates hit double figures as the Vols erased their old scoring mark of 114 points set 10 years ago against Furman.

The towering Vols out-rebounded Riverside. Power Co., tied bounded the visitors 84-23 and with Kaukauna at 9-9, won three limited them to 14 points in the second half.

Pond Hikes Volleyball Lead to Two Games

Pond Sport Shop (16-2) with an assist from Kaukauna, hiked its lead to two games over Kimberly Clark-Lakeview with a 3-game sweep over Appleton of Mexico team 121-42. Ron Wideman, coached by Jim Umstead, dropped in 19 points and six teammates hit double figures as the Vols erased their old scoring mark of 114 points set 10 years ago against Furman.

The towering Vols out-rebounded Riverside. Power Co., tied bounded the visitors 84-23 and with Kaukauna at 9-9, won three limited them to 14 points in the second half.

Rural Appleton Man Catches Largest Walleye in Fisheree

TUSTIN — The grand prize of a motor ice drill awarded at a fisheree sponsored here by the Tustin Volunteer Fire Department and August Zuehlke, ment was won by Nicholas (age 73) Weyauwega, received the prize for the oldest fisherman present. The youngest angler present was Richard Tesch, Neenah, age two years and eight months.

The 225 fish registered by the contestants Sunday is about one-fourth of the number registered in previous years. The temperature was at the zero mark all day with a strong wind adding to the discomfort of anglers. This was blamed for the small number of fish registered as anglers cut their fishing participation hours during the event. An average number of persons were pre-booked for the event. Proceeds will be used for purchasing new fire department equipment.

Limit of Northern The first limit of northern registered was by Georgia Olson of Dousman and the first limit of pan fish registered for a prize was caught by Harold Kwidzinski, Berlin.

Has any basketball team ever gone through an entire game and not scored a point? ... It seems hard to believe, but there have been several games in basketball history when one team was shutout ... And, some years ago, a Memphis, Tenn., church team set what must be a record when they shutout TWO opponents in one season, winning one game 78-0 and another 36-0.

Of all the bayers in history, which one holds the record for knocking out the most men? ... The answer, rather surprisingly, is not any of the old-timers, but a modern fighter — Archie Moore ... Archie set the record by scoring a total of 137 knockouts in his career.

Basketball players used to shoot with two hands. Do you know who is generally credited with popularizing the one-hand shot now used by almost every player in the game today? He was Hank Lunstedt, who played for Stanford in the late 1930s.

Guessing the answer is worth 25 bucks.

Stop at Van Steen's and record your guess.

If you're right, it's worth 25 bucks against any new car or used car you buy before March 15.

Costs nothing to guess.

No obligation. You don't have to buy a car. But if you do, a right guess is worth 25 bucks.

ONLY DODGE HAS V8 POWER IN A COMPACT TRUCK

Add to this such practical features as sliding doors, very flat floors, a very big cargo space (213 cubic feet) and a very low price right down with Fords and Chevys — and you've got some very good reasons for putting some Dodge compact trucks on your parade. Consider it. For the busy, Sassy Dodge toughness doesn't cost any more ... why settle for less?

46 U.S. Soldiers Die In Crash of Transport

Officials Say Mishap Is Worst of War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Air Force troop transport carrying 46 Americans and a cargo of mortar shells crashed in dense fog and rain today in the central highlands just after taking off from An Khe. All aboard were killed. The twin-engine C123 Fairchild Provider slammed into a hillside five miles east of An Khe and the impact exploded the mortar shells. The plane carried a crew of four from the 315th Air Commando Group and 42 soldiers of the 7th Cavalry Regiment.

U.S. officials said it was the worst American air crash in the Vietnamese war.

Ammunition and grenades carried by the soldiers aboard exploded in the tremendous heat.

Heavy Rain

A search party reached the scene at noon in heavy rain. The cloud ceiling was 300 feet when the plane took off.

The cause of the crash was not immediately known.

An Khe is the staging area for the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division, which has been fighting the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars in the highlands. It lies 250 miles northeast of Saigon in mountains where Communist snipers occasionally shoot at American planes.

The C123 is a lumbering aircraft with a cruising speed of 180 miles an hour.

The worst air disaster of the Vietnamese war involved a U.S. Air Force C123 which crashed into a peak south of Nha Trang last Dec. 11, killing 12 Vietnamese soldiers and the four American crewmen.

Highest Toll

The highest American toll in a plane crash indirectly connected with the war occurred last Aug. 24 when a U.S. Marine Corps C130 transport carrying 63 Marines and two sailors back to the front from a brief leave crashed into Hong Kong harbor. Fifty-eight perished.

The unit killed in the crash today was en route to join one of a number of general offensives

Mao Can't Wage Foreign War, Nationalist Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Chinese Nationalist military expert says "Communist China seems to possess little capability for sustained large-scale conventional war outside her own borders."

Although this estimate was not related directly to the war in Viet Nam, it obviously bears on the capacity of Communist China to intrude itself into the conflict.

The analysis was made by Nu Sien-chong, an adviser in the Nationalist Chinese Defense Planning Bureau. It appeared in the latest issue of the professional journal published at the U.S. Army Institute School, Ft. Benning, Ga.

"Today the Communist Chinese army is still essentially an infantry force," he wrote. "It is composed principally of infantry units equipped with only a few tanks, artillery pieces, and motor vehicles."

Slow Rising Trend In Temperature Seen

Fox Cities — Mostly cloudy with a little light snow at times and a slow moderating trend in temperatures Low tonight, near zero. High Wednesday, near 20. Light northeast winds becoming moderate southerly Wednesday.

Appleton — Observations at 10 a.m. today for the preceding 24 hours: High temperature, 8 above Low, minus 7. Wind out of the east-northeast at 5 miles per hour. Barometric pressure, 30.46 and rising. Relative humidity, 66.

Dew point, 2. Skies, cloudy. Precipitation, 2 inches of snow. Eight inches of snow on ground.

Sun sets at 4:52 p.m., rises Wednesday at 7:10 a.m. Moon sets tonight at 6:53 p.m.

Budget Lacks Realism, Says Rep. Byrnes

Congress Must Shift Philosophy To Tighten Belt

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Congress will have to experience a "shift in philosophy" during its current session from that which it exhibited last year if it exercises any financial belt-tightening action on the President's budget requests of nearly $113 billion for the coming fiscal year, Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay, said Monday.

Commenting that the budget "represents a lack of realism on both the spending and revenue sides," the congressman complained that there "are so many ifs and ands and buts about the budget that I don't think it gives a realistic projection" of the financial picture.

"The budget calls for a reduction in numerous areas totalling $5 billion and increases in non-defense items over the present levels by about another $5 billion. So it leaves a vast area of about $10 billion subject to serious question as to what will actually happen; the congressman, who is top Republican on the tax-writing ways and means committee, explained.

Looks Good

"On paper, the budget looks good," he continued. "In spite of additional cost of the war, the President predicts a deficit of $2 billion compared with $6 billion this fiscal year."

"If everything is done that he called for in its budget, and he has made his estimates properly, that is fine," he said.

"Mr. Johnson is just postponing the day of reckoning on financing by robbing the revenues of future years for use this year. He is temporarily solving today's problems by creating bigger ones in the future," he said.

What action, if any, Congress will take in trimming down non-essential expenditures is the real key budgetary responsibility, according to Byrnes, who takes a dim view of the possibility of any expenditure trimming by Congress this year in view of its spending record last year.

$120,000 Given to Carthage College

KENOSHA (AP) — An anonymous benefactor has contributed $120,000 to Carthage College. The gift, announced today by President Harold H. Lentz, is the largest made in one amount to the college in nearly 50 years.

Red Undermining Efforts Failure, Humphrey Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says the Communists have failed in their efforts to undermine the U.S. peace offensive in Viet Nam.

"By their refusal to come to the conference table, they have exposed their warlike, aggressive ambitions," he said in an interview Monday.

On whether the offensive would lead to peace, Humphrey said, "Regrettably, one cannot be too optimistic."

Humphrey was in New York to address the President's Club of New York and attend a reception of the American Jewish Committee.

Trouble Came in Twos Last Week for the sons of Dr. and Mrs. Richard K. Crissman of Alaska. Mich. Bob, 4, left, and John, 5, were both skung when they broke their left legs in nearly the same place. Bob's fracture occurred on Thursday and John's on Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

Begin Next Wednesday

Committees Dig Into President's Budget; Prepare for Hearings

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Twelve congressional committees started cranking up today for the long and arduous job of handling President Johnson's $112.8-billion budget.

Hearings on the many facets of the budget, presented to Congress Monday, will begin Wednesday when a House Defense Appropriations subcommittee will hear Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara explain the money needs of the military. McNamara's testimony will be keyed to a presidential request for $12.76 billion in emergency funds, exclusive of the $57.1-billion defense budget for fiscal 1967.

Over-All Picture

The entire House Appropriations Committee will be given an over-all picture of budget and appropriation requirements next Monday, when the Budget Bureau and the Treasury Department present the case for the President.

The 12 subcommittees will settle down then to months of testimony on the 12 separate money bills which annually finance the government.

The usual cries of "too much" went up from Republicans Monday as Democrats commended the President for what they called a realistic approach to the government's fiscal problems in his budget.

"I have never seen a budget based on more tenuous revenue assumptions and with such little regard for the fiscal welfare of this nation," commented Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee.

Dominant Note

"Restraint is the dominant note," said Democrat George H. Mahon of Texas, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

Bow did not dispute Mahon's estimate that there would be little disagreement over about 90 per cent of the budget. The area of disagreement will be the funding of controversial new "Great Society" programs.

Moro Likely Head Of Italian Rule

ROME (AP) — President Giuseppe Saragat today asked former Premier Aldo Moro to form a new government.

Moro, Italy's premier since July 1964, delayed his acceptance pending consultations with his own Christian Democrat party and the Socialist, Democratic Socialist and Republican partners in the center-left coalition which governed Italy until his resignation four days ago.

By the time Saragat ended three days of political consultations Monday night, all four parties in Moro's coalition had Norwegian border until his sentencing Nov. 24. The embassy same kind of government for the third time in a row.

Moro will not be sworn in as premier until he can assure Saragat that he has found a new Cabinet capable of commanding a majority in Parliament.

Associated Press Survey

Most Senators Oppose Changing House Terms to Meet LBJ Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson apparently will have to agree to substantial compromises to get Senate approval of his proposal for four-year terms for House members.

An Associated Press survey indicated today that Johnson cannot now muster the necessary two-thirds majority for a constitutional amendment calling for the four-year election of House members in presidential election years.

The survey reached 68 of the 100 senators. Eighteen declined to make any public commitments and 12 others were not available.

Both Senate and House would have to give two-thirds approval for such an amendment, which would then become effective only if ratified by three-fourths of the states.

Although Johnson argued in a special message against staggering the election of the representatives 26 senators said they do not favor electing all of the members in presidential years.

Twenty-four senators said they are not in favor of four-year terms. Only 20 generally supported the President's plan.

Johnson proposed Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., suggested that toward the 67 votes which would be needed for passage if all senators voted.

Those who were canvassed were asked:

Questions Asked

Do you favor President Johnson's proposal for election of House members to four-year terms in presidential years? If not, do you favor (1) maintaining the status quo or (2) the election of half the House membership every two years?

Nineteen Democrats and one Republican said they generally favor the President's proposal.

Some of these, however, had reservations as to how it might be put into effect.

Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, assistant Democratic leader, said he thinks the amendment ought to be put into effect in 1968 and not in 1972 as Johnson proposed.

Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., suggested that eight-year terms for senators be included in the proposal.

Opposes Amendment

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Fla., said he is opposed to requiring House members to resign their seats if they wish to run for the Senate. He said the amendment ought to be put into effect as soon as ratified by the states.

Eleven Democrats and 13 Republicans indicated they are presently inclined against four-year terms.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said that four-year terms "would make for one party gov-

For Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed to Congress today a many-sided program to fight poverty in rural areas.

In a special message, Johnson is announcing he will soon appoint a commission on rural poverty, charged with studying the problems of rural areas and proposing means of extending the nation's abundance to poverty-stricken rural areas.

Meanwhile, he proposed an executive plan program with federal aid and including pilot projects in a unspecified number of rural areas.

Johnson said the commission will study the problems of rural areas and propose means of extending the nation's abundance to poverty-stricken rural areas.

Johnson proposed creation of a rural development district to administer federal grants for rural development planning of public services and government programs and private initiative in a comprehensive attack on rural community problems.

Outagamie County Requested to Join Fox Planning Unit

Goal Is to Include Winnebago, Calumet in Regional Group Also

Outagamie County was asked Monday to join the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission. The request came from Eugene Franchett, executive director of the planning commission, who spoke to the county board's executive committee.

Franchett said, "It is the ultimate goal of the commission to have Calumet, Winnebago and Outagamie counties as members of the commission."

Alvin Fulcer, county board chairman, told Franchett he "would be glad to appoint a subcommittee to study the possibility of the other counties going along with the idea."

Joint Committee

He suggested a joint committee composed of representatives from the three counties to determine how the counties could participate in the planning commission.

Franchett said, "There is a need for improving the commission's relationship with the counties." He said the commission has found that "implementation of the commission's plan has been requiring action by local municipalities and also by county units."

"It would definitely appear to be mutually beneficial to the counties and the planning commission if the counties were involved in some way as participants of the commission," Franchett commented.

Regional Problems

He told the executive committee that counties will soon be required to concern themselves with regional problems which cross the boundaries of local municipalities and counties.

Fulcer said the "county as a governmental unit has never been involved in the planning aspects of regional projects, only the implementation." He felt the county "should be a part of planning. We are going to be a part of it whether we like it or not," he added, "so we might as well be a participant."

Franchett presented a brief summary of the commission's projects to date and its comprehensive plan, including the proposed tri-county expressway system.

Work on Projects

He told the executive committee a number of committees have been working on various projects for many years.

Franchett noted various county officials are members of commission committees and the cooperation received from the various counties "has been good."

He said that if the counties were to join the planning commission, they would be represented on the commission's executive committee along with the 12 member municipalities.

The commission was formed 10 years ago and its member municipalities are from Outagamie, Calumet and Winnebago counties.

Asked if the commission has received further information regarding a request to reorganize in order to become eligible for federal 701 planning funds, Franchett said he was still waiting for clarification from Washington.

Later today, Franchett received a copy of a letter Sen. Gaylord Nelson sent to Robert C. Weaver, secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), requesting clarification on the matter.

The planning commission had asked Nelson to aid the commission in seeking clarification of its legal status.

Last month the Chicago regional office of HUD advised the commission to reorganize under the Wisconsin regional planning law in order to become eligible for the 701 funds.

Chamber of Commerce Sets Annual Dinner, Will Discuss Planning

KAUKAUNA — The annual Chamber of Commerce dinner will get underway with a 6 p.m. cocktail hour Thursday at Van Abel's Hollandtown, with the dinner to start at 7 p.m.

Following the dinner a panel discussion will be held on "Kaukauna's Future Through Planning." Panel members will include Mayor Joseph Bayor, Eugene Franchette, Ed Edinger and George E. Greenwood. Two board members will be elected by advance vote.

The judge's nomination papers contained about 1,400 signatures when he filed them in the county clerk's office.

Outagamie Executive Committee Calls in Government Planners

An expected vote failed to materialize Monday afternoon in connection with raises and title changes for Outagamie County sheriff's investigators.

Instead, the county board's executive committee, deciding that the county police morale issue goes beyond their jurisdiction in some respects, approved calling in the J. L. Jacobs Co. to help solve a problem that has some board members concerned.

Before recessing for lunch Monday, the executive committee was ready to vote on a motion by Supv. Sylvester Esler (Appleton 18) to raise the salary grade and job position of sheriff's investigators from 14 to 16 and to restore the original title of lieutenants to the four investigators.

This was the step recommended by the board's law enforcement committee after it studied a letter Friday from Sheriff Calvin Spivey in which he said there is a serious morale problem in his department, and a formal, written protest from the four investigators who objected to their pay plan, overtime provisions and job titles.

Withdrew Motion

However, Esler later withdrew his motion after several board members indicated they would not support it without amendments to include personnel in other departments.

Since many of the alleged problems relating to police morale were attributed to provisions in the recently enacted Jacobs Report, which deals with county job evaluations, salaries and departmental organization, several supervisors felt the way to attack the problem would be to recall representatives of the Jacobs firm.

Representatives of the firm will be in Outagamie County within a week, the committee was told.

Supervisors agreed to postpone further discussion concerning the sheriff's department grievance until Jacobs personnel arrive and can work with the executive committee in setting up sessions to work on issues that have arisen concerning the new plan in not only the Greenwood, but also other Outagamie units.

A similar proposal came before the county board at its December session and was referred for further study to a joint committee of the executive and law enforcement bodies.

At least one member of the executive committee felt Monday that machinery should be put swiftly into action to implement the reorganization.

He was Supv. Marvin Babbitt (Seymour 2) who said, "If we're going to combine the two departments, now is the time, when there isn't a captain."

The captain position in the traffic bureau has been vacant since the recent resignation of Ronald Decker who quit for health reasons.

Several reorganization plans were mentioned but none received serious consideration Monday.

Driver Found Guilty Of Reckless Driving In Trial, Fined $200

James C. Lodholz, 21, 1934 N. Clark St., was fined $200 and costs or 70 days in jail Monday after County Judge Gustave J. Keller found him guilty of reckless driving.

The Appleton man was charged by city police with operating a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicants after his car struck a utility pole near his home early the morning of Sept. 19.

Lodholz was arrested at his home following the one-car accident. He pleaded innocent Oct. 1.

53 Seeking Seats On Waupaca Board

Fremont Boy Hit by Car at Weyauwega

Youth Slipped, Fell Near School; Driver Charged

WEYAUWEGA — A 14-year-old rural Fremont boy suffered leg injuries when he was struck by a car as he was walking home from school Monday noon.

Edwin Christianson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Christianson, route 2, Fremont, was treated at a clinic for deep lacerations on the lower left leg and a chipped bone and bruised upper right leg. He was later transferred to Waupaca Riverside Hospital for x-rays.

Weyauwega High School officials told Police Chief Larry Schmies that the driver of the car failed to stop at the scene of the accident on Ann Street. There are no sidewalks in the area.

A car matching the description was later stopped in the city by Schmies. The driver, Robert Bork, 208 W. Parker St., admitted he had hit the boy, who was on the sidewalk.

Bork said he saw the boy fall on the slippery street and he had applied his brakes to avoid hitting him. He said he didn't stop because he thought the boy was hurt.

Bork was not hurt. Police charged Bork with failing to leave his name and address at the scene of the accident.

The list of candidates in District No. 1 grew to four when Lloyd L. Mares, route 1, Bear Creek, filed nomination papers. He will face Kenneth Egan, Henry A. Kerkow and Arnold Dretke, all incumbents for one of the two seats. The district is comprised of the towns of Union, Bear Creek and Lebanon.

4 in New London Mayoralty Contest

Walter Fredericks Is Latest Candidate for Top City Post

NEW LONDON — Walter Fredericks, 621 E. Quincy St., has filed papers for mayor, bringing the list of candidates to four.

Fredericks has long been active on the city political scene. He was former New London mayor and Outagamie County supervisor for the Third Ward.

Schlafer was the first to file papers more than a month ago. Henry Miles Jr., a New London architect, W. Jennings St., filed a few days later.

Harry Emans, 318 E. Hanock St., executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, entered the race less than a week ago.

Residents here cannot remember a time when so much interest was shown in the city's mayors office.

Tempo of the Fifth Ward aldermanic race picked up as papers for Richard Berglund, State 54, were taken out at the clerk's office Monday.

Berglund is the fifth person to seek the council seat in the newly created Fifth Ward linking all parts in Waupaca County north of the Wolf River.

Berglund served as Second Ward alderman for a number of years, before losing this position a year ago.

D.P. Steinberg Retires From Building, Loan

Daniel P. Steinberg Sr., 523 N. Durkee St., retired as a director of the Appleton Building and Loan Association after 45 years of service at the 47th annual meeting of the group last week.

Fred T. Kamp, president of Kamp Transit of Neenah, was elected a director to succeed Steinberg and Wilbert C. Vandenberg, Outagamie County abstractor, was re-elected to a three year term.

Officers re-elected by directors are George Beckley Jr., president; Wilmer C. Rehbein, vice president; Arthur J. Snell Jr., secretary, and Carl J. Becher, treasurer.

The annual report of the president indicated new high attainments in every phase of the operation in 1965. Total assets grew in excess of $3 million to a record high of more than $39,700,000. General reserves and undivided profits climbed to more than $2.5 million with the addition of $240,000 to reserves.

Mortgage loan volume was reported as satisfactory in view of the lower activity in home building permits and sales per acre in the area. Total mortgage resources are more than $30 million.

Van Susteren Files Papers For Judge Post

Seeks Election To First Full Branch 1 Term

County Judge Urban P. Van Susteren, 51, 1107 E. Nawada St., Monday filed nomination papers for re-election to Outagamie County Court Branch 1.

He will be opposed for his first full term on the bench by State Sen. Gerald D. Lorge, 43, Bear Creek, who filed papers last week.

Van Susteren, a native of Little Chute, was appointed to the bench last February by Gov. Warren P. Knowles to replace veteran judge Stanley A. Staidl, who retired after reaching the mandatory retirement age of 70.

The incumbent judge received his primary education at St. John School and graduated from Kimberly High School. He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1936 and his L.L.B. from the university in 1938.

Former Divorce Counsel From 1939 to 1942, Van Susteren was Outagamie County divorce counsel under the late Judge Joseph R. McCarthy. He entered military service in 1942 and served in the Army Air Corps until 1946 when he was discharged as a major.

The judge was in private law practice and was senior partner in the firm of Van Susteren, Hollenbeck, Patterson, Froehlich and Jensen prior to his appointment as Branch 1 magistrate.

Van Susteren, in a statement this morning, said "I intend to campaign actively and vigorously throughout the county. I anticipate the support of the great majority of members of the Outagamie County Bar Association."

"Several committees are being organized to promote and assist in the campaign. My pledge to the people of Outagamie County is that I will continue to do my very best to be a credit to the legal profession and the judiciary of our state."

The judge's nomination papers contained about 1,400 signatures when he filed them in the county clerk's office.

Campaign Directors For March of Dimes Named at New London

NEW LONDON — Henry Miles, Waupaca Chapter campaign director for the March of Dimes, called for public cooperation in the drive to cut the number of children born with birth defects.

Miles said 250,000 children were born with defects each year. He noted the March of Dimes was the largest single national source of private support for research and care in birth defects.

"Some day we hope we can make the statement no single case of birth defect was reported in Wisconsin during the year as we could say this year about polio," Miles said.

Named as community campaign directors were Roger Pitt, New London; Del Glass, Waupaca; Potter Hutchinson, Weyauwega; and Phyllis Genske, Royalton.

Frigid Weather Limits Fisheree Attendance

WAUPACA — Frigid weather with the temperature hovering near the zero mark Sunday, held attendance for the second annual Fisheree below the 1965 turnout.

With only the hardest of anglers on the ice at Shadow Lake, Jim Miller landed a one-pound nine-ounce Northern Pike to take the prize for the largest fish. Miller also won first prize for the largest game fish last year.

A six-year-old Waupaca angler, Mark Taber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Taber, walked away with first prize for the largest pan fish. His prize winning catch was a quarter-pound bluegill. The prize for the most fish went to the boy's father, who won the prize with a limit of bluegills.

Dale Braun, New London, landed the first fish, and won a 22 automatic rifle. Braun also was awarded the prize for catching the smallest fish.

Prizes were furnished by the Waupaca police and auxiliary police, who sponsored the fisheree. Vernon Johnson and James Larson were co-chairmen.

Sandra Roehrig has been chosen to receive the DAR Award at Hilbert High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leander Roehrig, Hilbert.

Plymouth Bowler Hits 632 Series

CHILTON — Casey Jones, Plymouth, topped all bowlers Sunday with his 632 series on games of 247-184 and 201 in a traveling classic league match here but his Plymouth team couldn't support Jones' fine shooting and Chilton Pla-Mor Lanes team won three games.

Cliff Beil paced Chilton with a 612 series on games of 202, 212 was won at the free throw lane points for Chilton's cause, Thome and 198. Other Chilton bowlers: Steve Brillion made 17 charity points, and Ray Kraemer, 20.

Chilton edged Plymouth in the first game, 859-842; came on strong in the second contest to win, 980-957, and won the final game with a 981-952 score.

New London Matmen Win

Bulldogs Edge Shawano, 26-21, For Eighth Victory

NEW LONDON — Washington High School's wrestlers went down to the wire before recording a narrow 26-21 win over Shawano's Indians. The victory gave Coach Donald Zahn's squad an 8-5-1 season mark in dual matches.

Heavyweight Bruce Krueger scored the deciding points for the Bulldogs by pinning Doug Clark in 51 seconds of their match.

New London took six matches and scored a draw in another. Both teams scored three decisions.

Scoring pins for the Bulldogs were Terry Schoenrock, 138 pounds; Bruce Schoen, 145 and Krueger Ken Fish at 154 and Don Plautz, 165, tallied five points each for the Indians.

The results:

'Third Force' Spawned in Santo Domingo

Conservatives Join
To Enter Candidate
In Presidential Vote

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The unstable Dominican political situation has spawned a "third force" of conservatives certain to enter the June presidential elections.

At the moment, this force is still an indefinite regrouping of the conservative parties that opposed and lost to the Dominican Revolutionary party in the 1962 elections.

This is the consensus among political observers here who are also convinced the so-called "third force" candidate will hurt the candidacy of ex-President Joaquin Balaguer of the Reformist party, and proportionately help the Revolutionary party standard bearer, expected to be Juan Bosch.

The question is in what measure this new element will affect the June voting. Discussing this recently, Dr. Balaguer said: "They won't get 5 per cent of the vote. They have no following."

Foremost Candidate

The presidential race alignments had been expected to be confined to the two foremost candidates, Balaguer for the conservatives and Bosch for the left-wing moderates and far left.

Balaguer, however, is said to have alienated conservatives recently by wooing liberals regarded as committed to Bosch. That annoyed and frightened the right wing. It already had been suspicious of Balaguer since his last days as president when he ordered sharp price reductions in consumer goods and cut interest rates on loans from 8 to 4 per cent.

Balaguer is trying to build a political structure out of too many materials, some of them incompatible with each other, one political leader said recently. "His policies are too vague."

The bulk of the "third force" is made up largely of conservatives who banded together to oust Balaguer from power on Jan. 19, 1962. Up to recently they had been mostly passive, and in some cases agreeable, to the ex-president's candidacy — they considered it the lesser of two evils.

2 Candidates Seek Posts on County Board

Deadline Is 5 p.m. Today for Filing Nomination Papers

Two new candidates came into the picture today as the filing for county board posts entered the final day. Deadline is 5 p.m.

Papers were taken by Kurt A. Koletzke, 323 E. Summer St., who will seek election in Supervisory District 2, and William G. Coggeshall, 1523 Schneider Place, the fourth candidate in District 6 where a primary election was assured earlier.

Others to file as of this morning were Mrs. Rose Schroeder, 224 E. Washington St., for Appleton District 3; Supv. Patrick J. Heenan, 537 W. Prospect St. (Appleton 8) for District 10; Supv. John G. Dietz, 719 S. Buchanan St. (Appleton 13) for city District 14; Bernard Wussow, Willard E. Lyman and Robert Schmieder.

Krause, Town of Liberty treasurer for the past 17 years, will oppose Supv. Walter F. Fredericks (New London 3) in District 41.

School Board

A life-long county resident, Krause also served six years on the Immanuel Lutheran School board in New London. He is a farmer. Krause and his wife, Irma, have four children.

Conrad's lone opponent in District 46 is Supv. Cecil Carpenter (Town of Maine) although Supv. Norman Knorr (Village of Shiocton) has taken out papers.

Conrad has been Bovina supervisor for 13 years and presently is vice chairman of the county highway committee on which he has served 10 years. He also is on the executive committee.

The Bovina supervisor was elected to the State Assembly in 1964, representing Outagamie County's Third District.

The group heard about a new St. Norbert College student experiment starting this week under the direction of sophomore Kathleen Lyons and 100 volunteers who will join her in tutoring underprivileged children.

Miss Lyons said her group wanted to go to Seymour and Oneida, but is starting at West De Pere High School because they lack transportation to the outlying area. They will tutor youngsters in academic subjects or help them with problems of a more social nature.

She agreed with the league report that delayed bus transportation after school would help rural Indian children participate in metropolitan high school activities. This request will be the first project of the rights commission's newly appointed conciliation committee.

The committee will work to improve opportunities for minority groups and for measures are required.

Loss of Key Members Hurts

Waupaca Speed Skaters Defeated 172-140, in Meet at Fond du Lac

WAUPACA — Loss of key skaters due to illness or conflicting meets cut short the team's depth and it was defeated, 172-140, by Fond du Lac skaters Sunday at Lakeside Park there.

Tim Leopold, Waupaca's top junior boy skater, was competing in the Great Lakes meet at Milwaukee, accompanied by Coach Fred Gohl. Karen Jenkins assumed coaching duties at Fond du Lac.

The club also was without its junior girl, Ariys Jenkins, and junior boy, Lee Morey, who were out because of illness, and further handicap the club. Appleton members were not present because they were competing in races at Appleton.

Sweep Divisions

Four Waupaca skaters swept divisions with 15 points each, scoring first in all three of their races. They were Karen Jenkins, senior woman; Karen Morey, juvenile girl; Paula Morey, pony girl; Curtis Harrington, pny boy.

Jacci Romeis, cub girl, topped her division with 13 points followed closely by teammate Chris Fox with 11 points. Diana Harrington, juvenile girl and Cathy Fox, midjet girl, each were runner-up in their division each with nine points.

Other Waupaca girls who scored were Jackie Hawkins, pony, seven points, Karen Harrington, juvenile, five, and Wendy Jorgensen, midjet girl, three. Boys scoring were John Spindt, pony, who was runner-up in his division with nine points, Mark Romeis, juvenile boy, eight points and Kept Romeis, junior boy, six.

Parents of skaters who assisted in officiating at the meet were Gale Harrington, announcer; Mrs. Floyd Jenkins, scorekeeper; Dr. and Mrs. T. F. Romeis, Floyd Jenkins, Ben Forngensen, Ward Fox, Gen Spindt, Dave Morey, starters and judges.

Plan City Meet

The Waupaca club plans to conduct a city meet at Shadow Lake at 2 p.m. Saturday. It will be open to any youngsters in the city interested in skating, whether they have figure, hockey or bare skates. Members also will participate in a meet Jan. 30 at Whitefish Bay.

Club officials have scheduled skating practices for the team this week from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. nightly. Assistant Coach Karen Jenkins will work with the skaters. Parents will supervise the practice.

Badly Needed Parking Ramp

Disturbing to say the least was the news last week that a few aldermen, who by their own admission don't know and haven't apparently taken the time to find out, started to pick apart the proposed central business district (CBD) plan because they didn't think a parking structure belonged near Souiers Square where professional planners say it should.

Here we are but a few weeks away from receiving the finished citywide comprehensive plan which was prepared over the last 18 months for more than $100,000 by one of the nation's most reputable firms out of St. Louis, Mo. The need for reconstructing College Avenue has been talked about for more than a decade, and just when it appears the project will be scheduled for reality in 1967 another issue has been raised which may thwart the urgently needed improvement until possibly 1968, or who knows when.

The gist of the latest roadblock is an inter-Common Council wrangle, over the hiring of an architectural or engineering firm to design and plan the proposed parking structure which would be a 450 to 600-car facility south of College Avenue to serve that sector of the central business district. We have some reservations about the savings some say will be accrued by "shopping around" but this is in the hands of the aldermen. The East and West Ramps are excellent facilities and a credit to those who approved, planned and constructed them.

National, regional and local planners say the block recommended for the new ramp will leave Soldiers Square intact to preserve a community landmark and enhance downtown, and this is rightly so.

At this point the citizenry has had its fill of petty political wars within the municipal governing body and it is imperative to keep utmost in mind that off-street parking will be a crucial need once College Avenue undergoes its long-overdue facelifting. This alone should be a mandate for expediting ramp planning and construction so the structure can be in use a year from now when it will be needed most.

Military Manpower Waste

Investigators of the general accounting office have come up with some flagrant examples of goldbricking in military affairs that is bound to make a lot of citizens irate.

As reported by labor columnist Victor Riesel, there are at least 8,000 men in the armed forces, trained for military tasks, now tending store, operating recreational facilities and clerking in a variety of places where quite obviously untrained civilian employees could be used.

The fact that this report has been released at a time when the draft of men has been stepped up and when Selective Service Director Lewis Hershey has been making threatening noises about taking some college students and married men won't make the news any more palatable.

Actually many of the facilities coming under criticism developed because of the very real concern for the men and women in the armed forces. Since the pay is generally low, the fringe benefits were stepped up. The Post Exchanges, commissaries, enlisted, NCO and officers' clubs were to give advantages to the military generally denied to civilians. And during war, rest camps were essential to the recovery of our fighting men.

However, it is ridiculous that a man trained at great expense as a ground communications equipment repairman should be working in a hi-fi hobby shop while millions more dollars are spent training other such repairmen and there may even be a shortage of them in Viet Nam. Riesel cites another case, that of an army man with three years' experience as a motor maintenance sergeant who is now a recreation specialist in Texas and a game warden. Presumably the training of such men makes the assignment of them flexible. But we also know enough about the military to recognize that cushy jobs can be the result of politics and pull.

The report once more points up some serious flaws in our military program. If the armed forces need clerks in grocery stores and waiters in officers' clubs, why spend millions of the taxpayers' dollars qualifying them with the M-14 or giving them extensive electrical training? The armed forces might well review the abilities the men already signed up have before they cut deeper into the ranks of young civilians.

Involved as we are in a war, it may not be practical to revise the entire military program. But it is discouraging that during the years of comparative peace and calm, little progress was made in advancing real universal military training and the use of individual talents and training where they could best serve the nation.

Proliferation of Drugs

One of the major problems facing not only medical men and pharmaceutical manufacturers but the majority of Americans is how to determine that the myriad of drugs now on the market or being prescribed or awaiting approval by the Food and Drug Administration are safe.

The FDA has grown in 10 years from 800 employees with a budget of $5 million annually to 4,400 people with a budget more than 10 times as large. But the problem is not merely one of having enough people to provide the research or the facilities for experiments. This has been important with the tremendous growth in wonder drugs and also various food additives which the FDA must also pass judgment upon. But exactly how far the FDA should go in warning about possible side effects of drugs which may occur rarely, trying to determine whether suspected side effects are really the result of a particular drug, and not handicapping physician and drug companies in the process, is increasingly bewildering.

The flaw in the drug thalidomide was pretty obvious after percentages of malformed children were studied. So, too was a poorly prepared sulfa mixture almost 30 years ago. But the absolute safety of other drugs or their drawbacks are not as easy to determine. For instance there have been reported 82 cases of an ulceration that may become fatal after the use of a long acting sulfa preparation but it took about a year before the FDA decided to require that labels suggest the use of short-acting sulfas first. A drug aimed at curbing nausea was apparently widely prescribed for pregnant women before it was discovered that malformed babies might result. And the loudly applauded birth control pill is now undergoing new scrutiny and public argument because of what some claim are adverse and dangerous side-effects. Tranquilizers, once declared perfectly harmless and non-habit-forming, are also being studied once again by some doctors who question that all their effects may not be yet known.

Part of the trouble is the human desire to be cured of an ailment, however trivial, as fast as possible. The patient demands a wonder drug for the symptoms of the common cold which nothing yet has proved to curb. In this day of research and inventions, he believes there must be something to cure or at least reduce the discomfort of every ailment. Another problem is that only by some amount of trial and error on human beings can the full effects of a lot of drugs be known. Some of this takes years of research and experimentation. If one is dying from a disease that might be eased by a drug still in the testing stage, the dilemma is clear.

Looking Backward

Inner Conflict Defeats Fenians

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Jan. 27, 1866.

"What about the Fenians?" We might as well say it as think it.

We regard the Fenian movement, from which such good results have been hoped and looked for most longed by hundreds of thousands of true hearts on American Soil as well as in Ireland as utterly defeated.

It has been defeated through the intestine jealousies and machinations of its leaders. It would seem that there is no hope for the establishment of a free government in Ireland and our advice to all who have relatives and friends left on that ill-fated green isle is to send them money with which to get away from British intolerance and oppression and come to a better land.

25 YEARS AGO
Tuesday, Jan. 21, 1841.
Edward Krueger was re-electd president of Mt. Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church of Kimberly. Paul Miles was the secretary and serving on the auditing committee were Adolph Miles and Fred Harke.

Albert Schroth was elected president of the Appleton Post Office Clerks Association. Other officers included Earl C. Goehner, vice president; Paul G. Schulze, secretary; and Orville Schilhaber, treasurer.

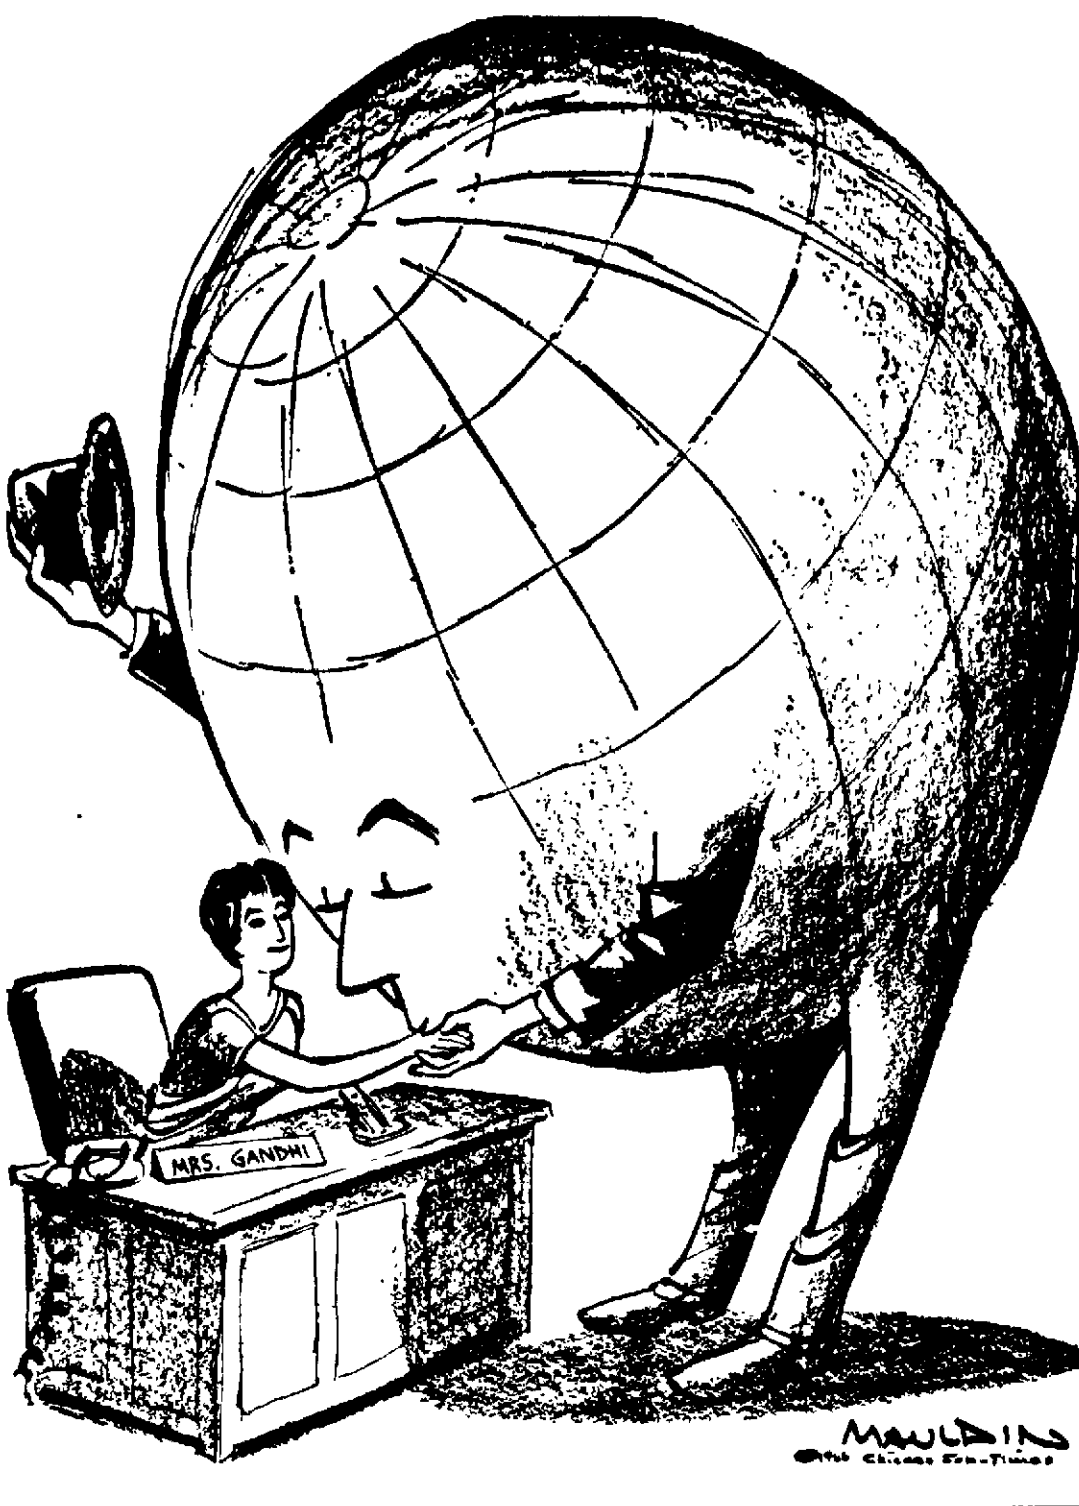

Prize-winners at the Christian Mothers' card party at St. Mary's Church in Hilbert included Mrs. Leonard Suttner and Mrs. Anton Sechtner. Five Hundred Mrs. Oscar Praess, Mrs. Roman Schmitz, Oscar Praess and Norman Schneider, scrapbook. John Prosson, Arthur Depies, Frank Suttner and Alvin Enders, skat.

10 YEARS AGO
Tuesday, Jan. 24, 1884.
Mrs. Erwin Schueler was the new president of the St. Mary Church Altar Society in Winneconne. Other officers elected were Mrs. Edward Wallenfels, vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Krings, secretary; and Mrs. Russell Grignon, treasurer.

Cyril A. Jandrey, Appleton, was to be ordained into the ministry of the American Lutheran Church the next Sunday afternoon at First English Lutheran Church. His new parish was to be near Waverly, Iowa.

Miss Judy Swan was Menasha High School's representative for the annual DAR award. A member of the National Honor Society, the student had won the freshman citizenship award, served as junior class president and junior prom queen, was a sophomore representative in the state forensic tournament as well as being active in athletics, music, journalism and editor of the Nicolet yearbook in her senior year.

Airport Decision Puts Obligation On Winnebago Co., Paper States

From The Oshkosh Northwestern

Victory after a controversy as protracted as the one over which airport-Winnebago's or Outagamie's—should be the regional airport seems especially sweet: a long fight naturally engenders strong feelings, and the end will produce strong satisfaction on the one hand, strong disappointment on the other.

This is why we would like to repeat what we said more than a year ago (when the Civil Aeronautics Board ruled in favor of Winnebago County) in an admonition more important today that it was originally:

"It is, perhaps, difficult for proponents of the Winnebago County Airport to forego a certain smug satisfaction with Tuesday's decision. . . But it is necessary to do so if they, and their Outagamie protagonists, are to reap the full fruits of consolidated airline service. "Winnebago County may feel the elation of victory, but it must realize that it has been entrusted with a major responsibility to assure full and adequate service to all the area."

Thus we warned on Nov. 25, 1964, and thus we warn again now, with added emphasis on the responsibility which Winnebago County has assumed.

A year ago it was important to "assure full and adequate service." Today it is vital.

In the interim, North Central Airlines has announced plans to begin service by DC9 jet airliner. Winnebago County has committed itself to providing an airport capable of accommodating those jets.

It must be ready and willing to go further: to commit itself to providing facilities capable of accommodating the people who will be flying on those jets; and to commit itself to a program of striving for better service for more people.

In the drive to lengthen the north-south runway so jet service can be inaugurated, it is almost forgotten that the terminal building is in need of expansion. The very fact that the jets, with their greatly expanded seating capacity, will be coming in 1967 is increasing the need for terminal facilities to accommodate more people at one time. The aviation committee must be willing to turn its attention to this problem soon. It has been loath to do so in the past because of the uncertainty of traffic due to the area airport court fight.

And in the future, as traffic warrants it, increased service will come. But the county must press for it. The ultimate destination of many travelers from this area is to the east. But they must go south, going through Chicago. It must be shown that the Oshkosh-Appleton area can generate enough traffic to make direct service to the east practical.

The decision of the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals is not simply an affirmation of the Civil Aeronautics Board's ruling. It is in a very true sense a challenge to the winners, to Winnebago County, to meet the demands of the air age forthrightly.

Fences Help Horses With Poor Vision

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The white plank fences characteristic of Kentucky's horse country are not erected for beauty alone. They protect temperamental Thoroughbreds who have poor vision and are apt to gallop into wire fences.

Wine-Colored Water

RAKOTOVO, Yugoslavia (AP) — It's hard to tell a glass of wine from a glass of water here—until you drink it. The 300-meter-deep well that supplies this village has red water, colored by minerals in the rock. But although it looks like wine, it tastes like water.

Meeting Demands for Technicians Is Great Challenge for State

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — It was at the end of a long and enervating session of the State Building Commission devoted to the almost frightening problem of accommodating the space demands for the explosive growth of tax-supported state universities that Gov. Knowles offered a pointed comment.

Wyngaard

There is no doubt about the enormity of the challenge in collegiate education beyond the high school, he said, but he is also troubled about a "blind spot" among officials and private citizens and legislators and many others in their contemplation of that problem.

The "blind spot" is the tendency to assume that the higher education commitment will be met by concentration on the expansion of the collegiate programs, while the equally demanding problem of technical education and training for the tens of thousands of young people who do not, cannot, or probably should not enter college is shunted aside.

These are delicate matters for a politician in a time when the status symbol in the typical Wisconsin family is the goal of college matriculation for the children. Yet any realist knows that the American economy may need literature majors in the future less than it needs machinists and computer operators and the thousands of other high-trained specialists of an age of technological revolution.

WASTEFUL PROCESS

Saying so is not calculated to win for the critic any friends, but it is a fact that the higher education system for all of its high cost is a wastefully casual and random thing.

Every representative person probably knows several instances of parents who have insisted that their children go to college in spite of the repeated demonstrations that they are not intellectually or spiritually equipped for the experience. Just as surely, most persons know some superbly equipped young people who are denied the opportunity, for a variety of reasons, among which financial limitations remain important but are gradually being reduced through a generous program of public subsidies.

There is the paradox also, as state officials are beginning to point out more frequently, of the hungry labor market crying for specialized workers, while social workers and others worry about unemployable youth, often the high school drop-out, but also often the boy or girl who chose an academic instead of a technical educational program.

State officials recently put together some astonishing data on the gap between technical education production and the prospective demand for skilled manpower in Wisconsin in the future, keeping in mind that the Wisconsin economy is likely to continue its growing industrial emphasis. Skilled manpower requirements will increase 50 per cent during the next 20 years. The skilled labor force of the state today is estimated at about 165,000. Thus the need will be for additions of up to 5,000 yearly, including replacements for the elderly retiring persons.

Remembering there is an acute shortage in many crafts and trades today, the state is likely to need 150,000 to 175,000 skilled, specifically trained workers for its labor demands during the period through 1985.

Will the demands be met, recognizing that training requirements are likely to become ever more narrow and detailed? There are some encouraging signs. Apprenticeship enrollment is showing the kind of gains that industrial managers and economic planners have long hoped to attain. There is a promise of significant expansion of training service and opportunity in the newly enacted area vocational school law—although that law won't be self-operative. It will require pushing by the educational and political establishment.

Deeply involved in the whole issue of industrial development as he is, Gov. Knowles has shown that he regards the issue of technical training as equally worthy and equally as urgent as the accommodation of the collegiate enrollment bulge.

Strictly Personal

What Book Would You Like on Desert Isle?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

When Chesterton was asked that tiresomely familiar question, "Which book would you most like to have if you were stranded on a desert island," he replied promptly, "Morton's 'Practical Shipbuilding.'"

His was the only honest and sensible answer I have ever heard on the subject. The other lofty thinkers to whom this question is posed generally wrinkle their foreheads, jingle their Phi Beta Kappa keys, clear their throats portentously and come up with an impressive list along these lines:

Harris

The Bible, Shakespeare, Paradise Lost, War and Peace, Divine Comedy, Pascal's Pensées, St. Augustine's Confessions, and a trailing assortment of similar double-decked classics.

Their mistake, I think, is in not listening to the question. They are so riveted on the word "book" that they forget the phrase "desert island." And the first book needed on a desert island would be one designed to get you off it and back to civilization.

If I were forced at a gunpoint to select 10 or so books, they would include the Bible and a one-volume Shakespeare. Beyond these spiritual staples I would select the following books before I added any other classics:

"The Manual of Outdoor Cookery," "How to Build Small Boats," "The Boy Scout Handbook," "The Red Cross Guide to First Aid," a large dictionary, and the fastest omnibus of crossword puzzles I could find between covers.

This, I believe, is a realistic list. It takes account of the fact that man is both a physical creature and a spiritual entity. Dante would be worse than useless on a desert island to a man who could not cook, build, tie a knot securely, or bind a wound adroitly.

By the same token, a man on a desert island who possessed these physical skills but lacked the Bible to console him or Shakespeare to sustain him, would become little more than a brute in a short time.

Alexander Selkirk, the castaway who inspired "Robinson Crusoe," was scarcely more than an animal when he was finally rescued—indeed, he had virtually forgotten how to speak English! This was what four years without companionship or books did to him.

The man of letters too often ignores the fact that "man" comes before "letters," while the Philistine indifferent to the arts does not recognize what a supreme position they occupy in sustaining his humanity. Each would quickly die—in a different way on a desert island. And "Robinson Crusoe" is more than an adventure story. It is a lesson in the multiple needs that make up a human being.

Single Vote Kept College Hopes Alive

CANTON, Mo. (AP) — The American adage that one vote can change history is well known to the people here, and especially to those connected with Coe-Spencer College.

Two years ago the college was floundering and enrollment had dropped to an all-time low. The board of trustees met to decide whether to close the school or not. The decision to remain open was determined by the influence of one vote.

Enrollment is now at a record high. Many faculty members have their doctorates. A more than $5 million development program is rolling ahead.

Humphrey Had Secret Purpose On Recent Trip

Asked Philippines For Troop Aid In Viet Nam War
BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Whatever it accomplished in boosting his prestige at home, Vice President Hubert Humphrey's Far Eastern mission last month had a vital, secret purpose not revealed until now.

That purpose was to advance an urgent diplomatic priority of President Johnson in the Viet Nam war: Increasing the contingents of foreign troops fighting beside U.S. and South Vietnamese forces.

Humphrey was scrupulously silent on this key aspect of his trip to the inaugural ceremonies of the new President of the Philippines, Ferdinand Marcos.

So careful was he to guard against word of his secret mission leaking out that he did not have a single "background" discussion with the reporters who travelled with him on the trip. This discreet silence, coming from the usually voluble Humphrey, puzzled the traveling press.

Ask Troop Aid
Humphrey was unwilling to risk a loss of the real purpose of his mission. In private conversations with President Marcos and the Foreign Minister, he appealed for a sizable contingent of Philippine military troops — at least 10,000 — to fight in South Viet Nam.

He carefully avoided any semblance of pressure. But it was made clear that the U.S. would take an exceptionally sympathetic look at Marcos's economic and military needs if his government sent troops to Viet Nam.

One reason for President Johnson's campaign to increase the number of foreign flags in South Viet Nam is obvious: military power. But the far more important purpose is psychological.

A major argument behind the war in Viet Nam is to prevent a Communist conquest of South Viet Nam from setting off a chain reaction extending across Southeast Asia. Under the "falling domino" theory, this would imperil Cambodia, Laos, Thailand, Malaysia — and possibly the Philippines.

Philippines Stake
Thus, as one of the dominoes, the Philippines has a vital stake in stopping Communist aggression in South Viet Nam and ought to be willing to join the battle in its own self-interest.

This was Humphrey's low-key pitch in secret conferences with Marcos. Although Marcos gave no commitment, top Administration officials are confident that a military contingent from the Philippines soon will be fighting in South Viet Nam.

Rounding up military help from Asian countries is no easy job. In the first place, the President has flatly rejected offers of help from Nationalist China. Putting Chiang Kai-shek's troops on the Asian mainland might bring an immediate Communist Chinese response (possibly in the form of "volunteers"). The other "domino" countries line up like this:

Thailand: Already making an important, behind-the-scenes contribution by letting the U.S. use certain airfields, its army is tied down by a much-expanded effort to secure its borders.

Cambodia: Officially neutral. It is really on the Communist side.

Laos: Officially neutral, it is really on the U.S. side and is in a continuing war of its own with Communist Pathet Lao and Hanoi's Viet Minh infiltrators.

Only Source of Men
That leaves the Philippines as the only possible source of anti-Communist fighting men in Southeast Asia. Nationalist sentiment, fanned by Communist propaganda, could make political trouble for the astute new President if he sends troops. Marcos indicated to Humphrey, however, that following a special session of the Philippine Congress, which started Jan. 17, the matter of Viet Nam would be dealt with — presumably by sending soldiers.

All told, some 40 free-world nations are now making some contribution to the war in South Viet Nam, but only Australia, New Zealand, and South Korea, besides the U.S., have sent troops.

Accordingly, the Humphrey mission was watched closely at the White House — and in Seoul as well as Manila. For in addition to his Philippine appeal, Humphrey also secretly asked for another contingent of troops from South Korea. Final agreement on that request is now being hammered out.

Seek Better Instruction in Co-Op Methods

Fear Decline in Understanding by Younger Farmers

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Three farmer members of the state board of vocational and adult education, worried about a decline in understanding of the cooperative method of economic organization, have called for a stronger and more direct program of instruction in cooperative methods in the public schools.

Too many young people, including those on farms, have an insufficient appreciation of the importance of cooperatives in the rural economy, said the three board members as they indicated that they will ask for board adoption of their proposal at the next meeting of the state supervisory group.

The farmer members of the board who joined in the statement are Martin Gunnellson of Cambridge, who read it at the board meeting here, Arthur Hitt of Alma, and Kermit Veum of Westby. Hitt is widely known as the legislative lobbyist of the Wisconsin Farmers Union.

The state's vocational agriculture division supervises courses of instruction in agriculture in the local high schools.

Rapid Changes

The farmers declared that the farm cooperative movement is changing rapidly to accommodate agriculture to an economy in which "bigness" predominates, but that a major problem among cooperatives is the lack of youthful leadership reflecting the aging of the rural population, and more particularly, the fact that so many young farmers have an insufficient understanding of the cooperative method.

The solution lies in instruction in the classrooms, they said.

"We believe that education on cooperatives in our public schools generally has been inadequate. It is doubly so today when cooperative understanding is not keeping up with cooperative growth, particularly in the marketing of the products of the farmer's toil," they said.

They asked for better instruction programs among students and for adults.

Gunnellson said he and his associates have discussed the problem with vocational agriculture teachers during the last year and are satisfied that the instructors share their concern about the decline in rural understanding of the role of cooperatives in the farm economy.

Cold Weather Penetrates Deep South

Below Zero Readings Found in Kentucky; Snow Hits New York

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cold weather gripped most of the United States today, penetrating into Florida and the Deep South.

The temperature reached 6 below zero Monday in London, Ky. A 70-year-old woman and two grandchildren died in a fire in their rural home near Jackson in eastern Kentucky.

In western New York, hit by a weekend snow storm, two persons died. They brought to 12 the number of deaths in New York state attributed to heart attacks while clearing snow or pushing stalled cars.

Schools were closed in 16 Kentucky counties today because of the extreme cold.

The Arkansas State Police said all roads in the state were in very bad condition from snow and freezing rain.

Schools Closed

Several public schools were closed today in Arkansas, including all in the Little Rock area.

A car hit a patch of ice near Magnolia in southwestern Arkansas Monday, flipped into a ditch and was upside down with only the tires above water when the two occupants were pulled to safety.

Snow, sleet and freezing rain covered a vast area of the South today. Sleet pelted Mississippi as far south as Jackson and Meridian. Hazardous driving warnings were in effect for Arkansas, western Tennessee, parts of Mississippi and Alabama.

Two inches of snow fell in Little Rock, Ark., Monday with one-inch falls in Wichita, Kan., Tulsa, Okla., and Pine Bluff and El Dorado, Ark.

Miami 49

Miami, Fla., had its coldest day of the winter with a low of 49 and a high of 70.

The snow in Maryland ranged from 17 inches in Garrett County to 1 inch in Northeast, Md.

Schools were closed in five Maryland counties Monday.

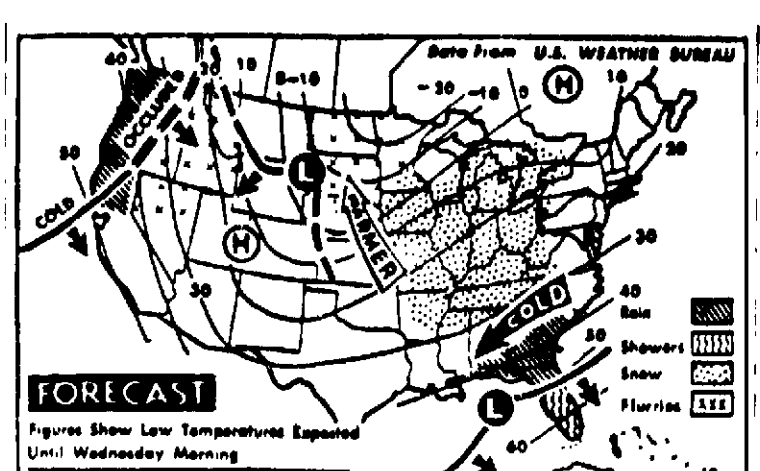

Western Maryland was hardest hit by the snowstorm. Winds up to 30 miles per hour created near blizzard conditions in Garrett County, reducing visibility to zero.

The cold snap continued in the Midwest.

Monday night was the 11th out of the last 12 nights in which subzero temperatures prevailed and the Weather Bureau said the arctic attack would last through Saturday.

The temperature ranged from a high of 8 to a low of -24 in Wisconsin. The state was covered with up to 6 inches of snow that hasn't melted for two weeks.

In the west, gale winds and rain were expected along California's extreme northern coast of Tobago Saturday for a one-week stay in Bequia, a tiny isle from Yosemite Park northward, in the Grenadines.

Snow and Flurries are predicted from the northern Plateau through the Ohio and Tennessee Valleys to night with rain and showers in the northern Pacific coast and south Atlantic coast states. It will be colder along the eastern coastal areas and in the northern Plains, but warmer in the Lakes area and the Central Plateau. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Hortonia Supervisor To Quit Post

Gerhard Ruhsam Was on Outgoing Board for 23 Years

Gerhard Ruhsam, Town of Hortonia supervisor for the past 23 years, said today he will not seek re-election to the county board in April.

Ruhsam, route 1, New London, was elected supervisor in 1943, replacing Jess Lathrop. He has been on what is now the courts, justice and enforcement committee all 23 years of his board tenure, and served as chairman of the unit for 10 years.

It was while on the committee that Ruhsam helped organize the first investigator position in the sheriff's department.

Ruhsam, a member of the town board since 1930, also has served on several other board committees.

Organized Firemen

A farmer, Ruhsam is director of the Farmers Oil Co. in New London. He helped organize the Hortonia Rural Fire Department in 1932 and was its treasurer for 27 years.

Ruhsam, father of two daughters, said he will continue to serve as Hortonia town chairman.

One candidate has filed for District 40, which encompasses the Town of Hortonia and the Village of Hortonville. He is George A. Bellie, 123 W. Bath St., Hortonville. Supv. Emil C. Diestler (Village of Hortonville) took out papers but has not filed.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—Bearded Ringo Starr and fellow Beatle John Lennon and their wives left the holiday isle for a one-week stay in Bequia, a tiny isle from Yosemite Park northward, in the Grenadines.

First Conviction Under New State Law for Permits

STURGEON BAY — The first conviction under a state law requiring a merchant to have a seller's permit, was recorded in Door County Court Monday.

Walter Warriner, proprietor of Sister Bay Cleaners, pleaded guilty of operating a business without a seller's permit and paid a fine of $100 and costs of $5.

The charges were brought against Warriner after an investigation by the Intelligence section of the Wisconsin Department of Taxation. A spokesman for the department said the conviction was the first under a law that has been in effect since Aug. 15, 1963.

The fine was assessed by Judge Edward G. Minor after Warriner pleaded guilty of selling services subject to Wisconsin's 3 per cent sales tax without having a seller's permit.

Under the law, conviction on the offense carries a maximum penalty of a $250 fine and/or imprisonment of up to one year in the county jail.

State Share of Federal Budget Set at $2 Billion

MADISON (AP)—State Chamber of Commerce sets Wisconsin's share of the $12.8 billion federal budget introduced by President Johnson at $2,244,700,000.

Don F. Taylor of Merrill, chamber president, said the Wisconsin total represents an increase of $260,670,000 over the current year.

In a statement today, Taylor said the extent of the federal spending increase could not be fully computed. "Backdoor budgeting for non-defense programs actually will total tens of billions more," he said.

State's Immunity From Suits May be Altered

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—The state should not be immune from legal suits from citizens in civil cases, the legislative Council Judiciary Committee concluded Monday.

The committee, in recognizing a series of state Supreme Court decisions of the past four years concerning municipal governments, recommended that the legislature enact laws to make it possible also for a private citizen to sue the state in civil actions.

Fears have been expressed that if the present trend of judicial decisions is continued, the court will rule that citizens can enter suits of this type against the state. But the court has stated in the past decisions that the legislature is free to enact limitations of the type and size of suits that can be brought against the state government.

Contract Dispute

The state constitution allows court actions against the state only in cases of contract dispute, but allows that the legislature may enact laws governing other actions, and can make awards to citizens wronged by the state if it so chooses.

In recommending that the legislature initiate action on the matter as has been requested by Gov. Warren P. Knowles, the committee also suggested revision of the actions of the state Claims Commission, the agency that now acts on all such actions brought before the state.

The commission, as revised by the committee, will have jurisdiction over all actions entered by claimants requesting awards of $500 or less.

Circuit Court Action

All larger requests will be handled by circuit courts from the start of the action. Claims refused by the commission for amounts of $500 or less may be appealed to circuit court, under the new plan.

No longer would it would be possible, as has been done in

$583 Collected in Hortonville Area Drive

HORTONVILLE — A total of $583 was collected in the regional Christmas Seal campaign, Mrs. Milton Collar, chairman, has announced.

The figure was a $4 increase over the 1964 drive.

The area includes Dale, Medina, route 1, New London, route 1, Fremont, route 1 and 2, Hortonville and the Village of Hortonville.

Use Form 1040A If You Itemize Deductions

EDITOR'S NOTE — Not everyone can use a simple form for his income tax return. This article, the second of five, explains that point and several other procedures that must be followed.

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — This is an ABC on choosing and using the right form — 1040 or 1040A — for your 1965 income tax return. Anyone can use 1040. Not everyone can use 1040A which is a punchcard and simpler.

You can use 1040A only if your income was under $10,000 and then only if you meet these conditions:

1. Almost all your income was in wages from which tax was withheld and no more than $200 of it was in interest, dividends, or wages from which tax was not withheld.

Standard Deduction
2. You take the standard deduction allowed for personal expenses.

If your expenses were more than the standard covers, you can claim them in full but only by itemizing to prove you had them. Then you must use 1040. You have to use it if your income was $10,000 or more.

And you must use 1040 if your income was other than described above or if you claim to be head of household or a widow or widower who qualifies as surviving spouse — two categories given a special tax break — claim credit for retirement income or exclusion for sick pay, paid an estimated tax during 1965, or claim travel, transportation, moving, or other expenses.

Before going into the tax problems, note this on deductions:

There are two kinds of standard deduction: The 10 per cent standard and the minimum standard. The former means a 10 per cent deduction, up to a limit of $1,000, from your income before what's left is taxable.

Deduction Examples
Example: Your income was $7,000, the deduction is $700; income was $10,000, deduction $1,000; income $15,000, deduction still only $1,000.

A husband and wife using this 10 per cent standard on a joint return can, if their income justifies it, deduct up to $1,000. If they file separately, their maximum 10 per cent standard deduction is $500 each.

The minimum standard works differently. Here you deduct $300 for yourself, $100 for each dependent, and $100 for your wife if she files jointly with you or, having no income, is claimed as an exemption on your return.

Example: Say you had $7,000 income, a wife and four children. You'd get only a $700 deduction under the 10 per cent standard but $800 under the minimum standard — $300 for you and $100 for you and your wife and four children.

For some families use 10 per cent standard gives a bigger deduction. Try it both ways if you're not sure about your case. But note this:

When a husband and wife file separate returns — using the minimum standard — each gets a deduction of only $200, plus $100 for each exemption each claims.

When couples file separate returns, if one uses the 10 per cent standard, both must; if one uses the minimum standard, both must; if one itemizes deductions, both must.

In the instruction sheet sent taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service there are three tax tables — A, B, C — and three tax-rate schedules, Nos. 1, 2, 3.

Only those with under $5,000 income can use the table to find their tax without figuring. Anyone with $5,000 or more income must figure his own tax, using one of the tax-rate schedules.

In table A for single persons and table B for married couples filing jointly there is no choice between the two standard deductions. The government has considered both and provided the lowest tax.

Note that couples using table B get a lower tax than couples filing separately with table C. It's in table C where there is a choice, for those using it, between the two standard deductions.

Those qualifying as head of household or surviving spouse — both are explained in No. 3 story in this series — get a tax break by being allowed to use low-tax table B with married couples filing jointly if their income is less than $5,000.

If you're figuring your own tax, using one of the three tax-rate schedules, you'll notice they do not parallel the three tables.

No. 1 is for single persons and married persons filing separately; No. 2 is for married couples filing jointly and for the surviving spouse; No. 3 is for the unmarried or legally separated persons who qualify as head of household.

Next: Rules for married couples.

Arthur H. Lehman Winneconne School Head Takes New Job

Arthur H. Lehman Resigns for Post At WSU-Oshkosh

WINNECONNE — Supt. Arthur H. Lehman of the Winneconne Community School District Monday night submitted his resignation to the district school board.

Lehman, superintendent here since 1958, has accepted a position as assistant professor at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh and will work in the administrative field at the university. The resignation is effective July 1.

Born at Horicon 45 years ago, Lehman received a bachelor of music degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1947 and a master of science in educational administration from the University of Wisconsin in 1951.

Taught at Beaver Dam
He taught vocal music at student of junior or senior age Beaver Dam High School from attending school as that is about 1947 to 1952 and then was the age of the foreign student supervised principal of the who will be visiting. Deadline few hours later at a downtown motor hotel.

from 1952 to 1958. He became superintendent of schools for the Winneconne schools in 1958.

During his administration the district has expanded both its elementary and high school facilities.

Lehman will continue to reside at 416 S. First St., Winneconne. He is treasurer of the Winneconne Masonic Lodge No. 186, an elder of the First Presbyterian Church of Winneconne and has been vice president of the Winneconne Kiwanis Club. He also is on the state curriculum planning committee of the State Department of Public Instruction and a member of the Wisconsin Education Association, National Education Association and the American Association of School Administrators.

His wife is a registered nurse at the McDonald clinic at Winneconne and they have two daughters, Kathy, a senior, and Mary, a freshman, both attending Winneconne High School.

KHS Seeks Home For Foreign Pupil in Fall

KAUKAUNA — An effort is being made by the local American Field Service chapter to locate a home in the Kaukauna school district in which a foreign exchange student can be housed for the 1966-67 school year.

The student council at Kaukauna High School, with administration approval, sponsors the foreign exchange program and helps the visiting student financially through special activities held prior to the student's arrival.

Adult committee members working on finding a home are Mrs. Robert Strauss, Robert Lang, and James Gustman. Persons interested in having the student as a house guest may call Jerome Kroll, assistant principal, or Philip Weiner, a student council adviser.

The home should have a front and back yard. A transportation firm reported it stolen. Police found it a few hours later at a downtown motor hotel.

Gov. W. P. Knowles Gets Promise From Vocational Board

By JOHN WYNGAARD Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Politely but firmly prodded by Gov. Warren P. Knowles, the state Board of Vocational and Adult Education said Monday that it will make available to county boards and other local governmental bodies by June 15 a preliminary plan for carving up the whole state for the formation of new vocational and technical school districts.

The pledge for quick action under the 1965 vocational school reorganization law came after Gov. Knowles, in an unusual personal appearance before the board, advised members in urgent terms of the need for quickest possible action to provide the fiscal base for a generous enlargement of technical training opportunities for students beyond the high school.

Better Economic Base
The 1965 area vocational school bill, he said, is the most important departure in education approved by the legislature in many years, and to a substantial degree is the clue to success in the broadening of the Wisconsin economic base.

The board accepted the suggestion of Knowles for the creation of a blue-ribbon advisory committee of educators and others to assist in the preparation of the area school district plan, after members expressed concern about the lag in public understanding of the purposes and the importance of the new legislation.

Knowles' theme was the one that he has frequently used recently — that the development of technical education opportunity for tens of thousands of Wisconsin young people is as important to the future of the state as the expansion of collegiate education in spite of the "prestige value" of the latter.

'Smokeless Industry'
In the pressures for collegiate education development, the governor said, he has perceived in some communities a desire for the acquisition of a "smokeless" vocational school districts industry", rather than a concern for the real educational needs of youth.

"Not all of our boys and girls can go from high school to a collegiate institution," he said.

The board has the primary responsibility for the mapping of the state for the new administrative districts, but its blueprint must be ratified by the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education. It has already been subjected to some pressures from individual counties and regional groups, but members said they are determined to write a plan for the state as a whole, and to avoid the approval of individual districts in separate actions.

Preliminary Work
Richard Whinfield, of the state board staff, said he and associates have already done some preliminary work to draw up criteria for the establishment of the new districts that will reflect the particular distribution of vocational school districts in the state.

With the other board members, Kahl recognized the inherent difficulties presented in the major school redistricting mandate of the legislature, and its historic importance.

"This will stand for many dozens of years," said Whinfield, after Director Clarence L. Greiber reported on the presures already building up and which will reflect the particular distribution of vocational school districts in the state.

Utility Workers Get Pay Hikes, Service Raises

KAUKAUNA — Agreement has been reached between officials of the Electric and Water Utility, the commission and bargaining agents for the employees' union granting workers a 5 per cent wage increase and service tenure adjustment.

The wage increase is retroactive to Nov. 1 when the contract between the union and utility expired and the service tenure adjustment became effective Jan. 1. The new contract expires Nov. 1.

Pay for service tenure is 12 per cent of the base for each five years of continuous service; up to a maximum of 25 years when the amount reaches 6 per cent of the base. Negotiations between the utility and union have been underway for several months.

Sen Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said the House members "were given two-year terms to make the House responsive to the will of the people, to keep its members in complete sympathy with the people, so that when the people change, the legislative body changes."

Other Years

Seventeen Democrats and nine Republicans said they would favor four-year terms if elections were held in other than presidential years or if one-half the House members were elected every two years.

Even Sen Birch Bayh, D-Ind., who introduced the President's proposal, said he thinks half of the House members should be elected every two years.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, a former House member, said he can sympathize with representatives who have to begin campaigning again shortly after they get elected.

"But if we are going to have four-year terms for them, the elections ought to be staggered," he said.

Fails to Pay Bond, Man Is Jailed

Bonds totaling $475 were ordered Monday for Carson T. Curtis, 28, route 4, Appleton charged with four traffic violations and one count of disorderly conduct.

Curtis, arrested Saturday by Appleton traffic police, is in jail in lieu of posting the bonds set by County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

The man pleaded innocent of speeding in excess of 80 miles an hour in 50 to 55 m.p.h. zones, fleeing or attempting to elude police officers, operating a car not equipped with legal tail-lights, operating a motor vehicle after his driver's license had been revoked and disorderly conduct.

March Trial

Trial on the five counts was set for March 10.

The disorderly conduct charge was filed after police said Curtis refused to alight from his vehicle after being stopped at a roadblock following a "long and fast chase."

The complaint alleges that Curtis became loud and boisterous and had to be removed from his vehicle by force. He last year, reducing the herds also tried to jump from a squad car while he was being taken to the Appleton police station, according to the complaint.

Electric Utility Co-Op Attacks Cut in Budget

Move by Johnson Could Hurt State's Atomic Development

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Rural Electric Cooperative Association said today it will use its full resources to overturn President Johnson's budget limitations in the rural electrification program.

"The new budget calls not only for too little funds for fiscal 1967," said Jerry L. Anderson, acting NRECA general manager, "but we are shocked to learn that the president has stated he will approve the lending of only a portion of the funds which Congress has already authorized for 1966."

Anderson said the budget would make only $270 million available for REA loans out of the $402 million already approved by Congress.

The comment was in a telegram to President Johnson.

Would Affect State

Wisconsin would be hit if the budget figure for loans were only 270 million dollars, as Johnson proposed, according to W.B. Thomas, general manager of Wisconsin Electric Cooperative.

Thomas noted that funds for construction of Dairyland's atomic generation plant at Genoa had been appropriated but transmission and distribution programs projected by local co-operatives might be curtailed.

Wisconsin loan applications made and expected will total $3,800,000 by the end of this fiscal year, June 30, according to the state association.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Beef is going to be a little more scarce and more expensive, some cattlemen believe.

John H. Guthrie, Porterville, Calif., first vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, said the demand is catching up with the supply.

Guthrie told the association's convention Monday that five per cent more beef was slaughtered last year, reducing the herds and producing three per cent less meat because there was less fattening of the animals at feedlots.

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan announced the start of a major diplomatic campaign by his government to reopen the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina. He told a Tokyo news conference broadcast throughout Japan that he was assigning a veteran diplomat, Masayuki Yokoyama, 73, to visit North Viet Nam and other countries to seek support of the proposal.

Soviets Unmoved

Britain, which was co-chairman with the Soviet Union of the Geneva meeting, has been unable to persuade the Russians to reconvene the talks. Japanese Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shima visited Moscow last week and also apparently failed to budge the Soviets.

The United Arab Republic was reported making a new effort to intervene on behalf of 26 Americans held captive by Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese. A Foreign Ministry for official met separately in Cairo Monday with U. S. Ambassador Lucius Battle and North Viet-South Vietnamese.

Damage Vehicles

The barrage of 42 rounds missed a half dozen jet fighter-bombers parked on the strip but damaged several vehicles and a mobile crane.

The shells included big 120mm mortars, 35-pounders only recently reported in the Communist arsenal. Nine of these miniature blockbusters, which are fired from equipment weighing about 1,800 pounds, landed near a Hawk antiaircraft missile site.

A hit on a missile site would have been regarded as a major propaganda achievement for the guerrillas.

U. S. military sources said the 120mm mortar presented a new threat to the base because of their range, about four miles.

The Viet Cong have used 60mm and 81mm mortars in similar attacks.

Slip Through

The guerrillas apparently slipped through the base's outlying defenses in the darkness.

They ended the attack when the Marines began a counter-mortar barrage, firing more than 100 81mm shells at the suspected enemy positions.

"The Viet Cong never fired a round after we started," said Maj. King D. Thathenurst of the Twenty-nine Palms, Calif., executive officer of the 1st Marine Battalion.

The Vietnamese war report for the past 24 hours listed only 20 minor harassments and one act of terrorism, the murder of a village councilman in the Thu Duc district just outside Saigon.

Head of Milwaukee Police Calls State Work 'Too Slow'

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The police chief of Wisconsin's most populous city and the head of the State Crime Laboratory are feuding openly.

Milwaukee Police Chief Harold A. Brier said Monday that all the evidence his department has that needs analysis will be sent in the future to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington. He complained the state laboratory in Madison was too slow.

Charles M. Wilson, superintendent of the state laboratory, had told newsmen last week that Brier was the only member of the executive board of the Wisconsin Chiefs of Police Association to oppose a suggested central criminal file for the state.

Reports From August

Brier criticized Wilson Monday and charged the Milwaukee department is still awaiting reports from the Crime Laboratory on cases sent to it as far back as last Aug. 17. Wilson said Monday night he knew of no such delays.

The Milwaukee police chief called Wilson's statement before the Wisconsin District Attorneys' Association last Wednesday "irresponsible."

Wilson had urged then the creation of a central file of criminal identification for the state, to be set up within his agency. He said that opposition had come from law enforcement divisions "where they don't want to have anyone else maintaining records besides themselves. ... Maybe it's a blue curtain that descends, where they try to cover up their mistakes."

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a today, Manuel Benitez, known columnist might never know if as "El Cordobes" and "the Beatnik Bullfighter," earns an estimated $2 million a year.

In this age of anxiety one out of 12 Americans takes tranquilizers. The burden of the presidency takes an increasing toll. The U.S. presidents who served in this century averaged 11 years less than their normal life expectancy for the age at which they took office.

A kind of Roman lottery was the forerunner of our St. Valentine's day. Celebrated on Feb. 15, it was called the Feast of Lupercalia. A young Roman man drew blindly from a container the name of an unmarried girl. They became sweethearts for the year, and exchanged gifts.

One out of every six licensed drivers is involved in an accident each year. The chances are, if you drive regularly, you will have some 10 traffic mishaps during your career behind the wheel.

Worth remembering: "You wouldn't worry what people think about you if you knew seldom they do."

Dizzy Spells Come From Various Causes

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I am in my early 26s and for the last few months I have noticed that if I bend over to pick up something, or move my head fast I get dizzy and feel like I am going to pass out. This is especially true during my menstrual period. Could it be a brain tumor?—Miss B.W.

Dr. Molner

have a blood count because some anemia may have developed.

Examination covering these items in most cases provides the necessary clues for correcting the trouble in younger people. In older folks, the same causes may be at work, but middle ear trouble, high blood pressure causing dizziness, and some other difficulties may also warrant inquiry.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband, 66, has diverticulosis, but not bad I would like more information and enclose 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You."

My husband has always been a big eater, and even likes "a little extra meat," with his cake or pie. Also he wants mustard,

I can't convince him that he should eliminate these from his food because they must be irritating. Or maybe I'm wrong.—J.W.

The items you mention shouldn't bother his diverticulosis (which is what is irritated when you have diverticulosis). The booklet will explain all that).

Rather, your husband will likely benefit much more by avoiding foods which leave a great deal of residue after having passed through the stomach and upper intestine—bran, nuts, corn and berries with seeds are the principal such items.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 29, and for the last year have been bothered by dry, chapped lips. I have never had this or any skin problem before. In the last couple of months it has become worse. I have tried petroleum jelly and chap sticks but they don't help. Is there anything else to do?—Miss K.B.

First of all, consider the possibility of being allergic to lipstick, or even toothpaste or a mouthwash if you use one. Such sensitivity is a lot more common than you may think—common enough so non-allergic lipsticks are available. Or just omit cosmetics entirely for a little while. Change toothpaste.

The second possibility: Do you smoke cigarettes? Or do you smoke a brand with some special type of tip? Just plain ordinary ones can irritate the lips. If these simple but often effective methods don't help, see a dermatologist (skin specialist).

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it common for boys of 13 or 14 to have soft tumors or "kernels" in the stomach and between the elbow and underarm? The doctor said they weren't anything to be alarmed about. Will you explain?—Mrs. J.M.

From your description and the doctor's remark, they sound as though they might be small lymph nodes—lymph glands which have swelled because of a fighting off infection.

If that's it, they usually get smaller; if they persist or get larger, then further investigation (including blood count and chest X-ray) would be advisable.

History Shows Budget Figures Usually Wrong

BY SYLVIA PORTER

President Johnson will be wrong in the budget figures he submitted for the new fiscal year to Congress yesterday.

The deficit in the fiscal year to begin in mid-1966 will not be the $1.8 billion he projected. The figures he gave for overall spending and receipts in the administrative budget won't turn out the way he estimated them either. He'll also be wrong in hundreds of details as well as in the big statistics.

How dare I carp this way — only a few hours after the President has presented the $112.8 billion administrative budget? I dare for four highly persuasive reasons.

History Shows Error

(1) History shows that the President has almost always been wrong in his initial projections — and in modern times the President always has been wrong. Most years the deficits projected in January have turned out too small. President Eisenhower had the dubious distinction of estimating a small budget surplus for fiscal '59 which became the largest deficit in peacetime history to date — $12.4 billion.

The surpluses projected during the 1962-63 years of President Kennedy became deficits too. The initial deficits projected during the 1964-65 years of President Johnson were whittled down by the end of each period, but Johnson also has been consistently off.

(2) The budget the President is now submitting is for a period ending 18 months from now. The 1967 fiscal year won't begin until one minute after midnight July 1 and won't end until midnight June 30, 1967.

Under the circumstances, how could the figures be precise? An utterly unforeseeable weather development a full 12 months from now could significantly affect our crops and throw off the budget by billions.

Can't Forecast

Any one of hundreds of legislative decisions by Congress on increasing a project here or decreasing a project there could have a similar impact — and remember, while

Johnson proposes, Congress disposes. We know more about our economy than ever before, but no responsible economist claims he knows enough to make exact forecasts on the levels of paychecks and profits over the next 18 months — and these levels will determine the size of tax collections.

(3) This budget is particularly slippery because of the Vietnam war. Either progress toward peace or acceleration of the war would result in major changes in types of spending.

(4) As for tax rates, both liberal and conservative economists agree that tax adjustments are now imperative to combat inflationary forces. If the relatively easy tax measures Johnson is proposing aren't sufficient to help offset higher spending or to curb inflationary dangers, Johnson will be back with tougher proposals. This uncertain tax outlook makes the 1967 budget even more slippery.

To back up my carping, here's the record of original budget estimates and actual results since fiscal year 1955, in billions.

Fiscal Year	Surplus (X) or Deficit (—)	Original Estimate	Actual Result
1956	— 2.4	X 1.6
1957	X 0.4	X 1.6
1958	X 1.8	— 2.8
1959	X 0.5	— 12.4
1960	X 0.1	X 1.2
1961	X 4.2	— 3.9
1962	X 1.5	— 6.4
1963	X 0.5	— 6.3
1964	— 11.9	— 8.2
1965	— 4.9	— 3.5
1966	— 5.3	?

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1777 George Washington issued a proclamation that persons who had accepted British protection must withdraw inside the enemy's lines or take the oath of allegiance to the United States.

On this date
In 1819, the University of Virginia was established.

In 1915, the first telephone line connecting New York and San Francisco was opened, with the telephone's inventor, Alexander Graham Bell, speaking from New York.

In 1919, the Versailles Peace Conference voted in favor of the projected League of Nations.

In 1944, the long and costly battle for Cassino, Italy, began.

Ten years ago — A treaty of friendship and cooperation was proposed between the United States and Russia by Premier Nikolai Bulganin in a letter to President Dwight Eisenhower.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy announced that the Soviet Union had freed the two surviving crewmen of a U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane shot down by Soviet fliers over the Barents Sea.

One year ago — President Johnson submitted a budget for more than $9 billion dollars, emphasizing broader aid for schools and welfare.

Finally are substituted for those two question marks, they won't be $5.3 billion and $1.8 billion. (All Rights Reserved)
